OKLAHOMA JURY VINDICATES GORE

Takes One Ballot and Unanimously Returns a Verdict in Favor of Oklahoma's Eloquent Blind Senator.

OUT TWO AND A HALF MINUTES

Mrs. Bond Denied Even One Penny of the $50,000 She Asked For Alleged Assault—Will Appeal the Case.

Oklahoma City, Feb. 19.—Upon the testimony of Mrs. Minnie E. Bond and her own witnesses, Senator T. P. Gore was vindicated of any wrong conduct towards Mrs. Bond by a jury in the district court here. The jury was in the jury room two minutes and a half, and one ballot was taken. It was unanimous for Senator Gore and denied Mrs. Bond one cent of the $50,000 she asked from the blind senator, who she had charged with attempting to assault her in the Winston hotel in Washington on March 24 last.

"We find," the jury stated in the verdict, "the evidence submitted by the plaintiff entirely insufficient upon which to base a suit; that said evidence wholly exonerates the defendant and had the defendant, at the conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence announced that he desired to introduce no evidence and rested his case, our verdict would have been the same in that event as now returned by us, in favor of the defendant."

Judge Clark read the verdict. At his final words, "in favor of the defendant," those near the front of the room heard Mrs. Gore utter a stifled cry as she leaped from her chair, grasped the hand of Senator Gore and whispered something into his ear. When she turned and shook hands with Henry Carpenter, the foreman of the jury, tears were streaming down the faces of both she and the aged farmer. Senator Gore merely smiled. Simultaneously with the cry of Mrs. Gore, a great cheer arose from the spectators.

During the reading of the verdict there was no perceptible change in the expression of Mrs. Bond's face. E. J. Giddings, attorney for Mrs. Bond, announced that he will appeal the case to the state supreme court on the ground that the jury was influ-

TERRIFIC FLOODS IN WEST

By Associated Press.

Los Angeles, Cal., February 19.—Southern California was flood-bound today as the result of a downpour which started at midnight Tuesday and yielded from six to eight inches of rain in the 32 hours, ending 8 a. m. today. Railroad traffic was demoralized. In the cities the streets were turned into mill races. The storm brought a recurrence of flood conditions that attended the rainfall of a month ago.

One telegraph company announced today that seventy-five per cent of its wires were useless. Arizona was virtually cut off from wire communication. Retaining walls at various points in the foothill regions of the orange growing sections collapsed and sent floods swirling through the orchards inflicting great damage.

By Associated Press.

New York, Feb. 19.—Because it affords them an opportunity to "engage in vile language and degraded discussion," two young women investigators have recommended that the inmates of the State Prison at Auburn for women, be denied the right to converse during meals.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—Decision by the Interstate Commerce on the proposed freight rate increases is expected to be reached probably within three months, or certainly before the Commission adjourns for its summer recess, July 1st.

Commissioner Harlan made this announcement today in substance. Mr. Harlan expressed the desire of the commission that the commercial interests of Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Buffalo come together at the hearings prepared to advise the commission of switching and spur track conditions existing in these cities. Other cities also will be heard. At these hearings none of the switches to and from and within industrial plants will be considered.

BANDIT HOLDS AN AMERICAN

By Associated Press.

El Paso, Texas, February 19.—A telegram covering the case of William S. Benton, who disappeared in Juarez Tuesday night was sent to the British Ambassador at Washington, from here today. The case has aroused great interest here. Benton, who is a mine owner and ranchman, is considered wealthy. He has known Francisco Villa for many years, and his wife and friends hope that the Rebel general is merely disciplining him for his outspoken protest against Rebel depredations on his estate. Benton's remarks to Villa, whom he called a bandit, were deliberate. A rather vague report reached Mrs. Benton today that her husband was in jail in Juarez.

MISSING GIRL THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN FOUND

Young Woman Thought to Be Catharine Winters, of Newcastle, Ind., Found in Possession of a Carpenter in Middleport.

HAS BEEN MISSING SINCE LAST MARCH

Is Unable to Give Account of Experience—Carpenter Claims He Adopted His Charge From Cambridge, O., Children's Home—Sheriff Is Not Impressed.

By Associated Press.

Middleport, Ohio, Feb. 19.—Catharine Winters, of Newcastle, Ind., who has been missing from home since last March, and for whom a country-wide search has been made, today was believed to have been found near here where she is said to have been brought by Joseph Davis, a carpenter, who is under arrest on a charge of forgery.

Davis is said to have been forced to leave the county because of a charge of bootlegging. A short time ago he returned with the supposed Winters girl and took her to the home of relatives in the country near here, it is said.

The girl is unable to give but a meager account of her experiences. Sheriff Willock, of Meigs county, does not believe the girl is the Winters girl. Davis said he adopted her, securing her from the Cambridge, Ohio, Children's Home over a year ago.

Cambridge, Ohio, February 19.—The officials of the Children's Home here cast doubt upon the belief that the girl held by Mayor Jones, at Middleport, is missing Catharine Winters of Newcastle, Ind. They say a man named Joseph Davis had a girl of the same name, Rose Davis, with him in a camp near here three years ago, that she was taken from him by humane officers and placed in the Home here April 19, 1911. Later he kidnapped the girl from the Home, was captured and sent to the Ohio penitentiary for burglary. After his release Davis returned here and claimed the child who was discharged to him August 7, 1912.

PAIR SEPARATED BY THE FRENCH COURT

Clarence Mackey and Wife Granted Mutual Divorce.

DESERTION THE ONLY CHARGE

Couple Departed For Paris Following Filing of Million-Dollar Alienation Suit Against Mrs. Mackey by the Wife of a Famous New York Surgeon — Husband Awarded Custody of the Children.

New York, Feb. 19. — Advice received here from Paris brought the information that Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mackey have obtained a French decree of divorce in Paris. The decree, signed by the French tribunal, was handed down within the last few days.

The divorce was obtained by mutual agreement between the millionaire cable owner and his wife. It was stated that soon after Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, wife of the famous surgeon, had filed her $1,000,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Mackey attorneys for the Mackeys tried to make an amicable arrangement between them and obtain divorce, but this fell through. A public divorce suit was threatened, and to escape the attendant publicity, Mrs. Mackey agreed to go to Paris and get the divorce on allegations of desertion.

John B. Stanchfield, counsel for Mrs. Mackey, made the following statement: "In December last Mrs. Mackey sailed for Europe and took up her residence in an apartment at Paris. She brought suit against Mr. Mackey for a divorce on the ground of desertion. He voluntarily appeared in the action and interposed a counter claim alleging desertion on the part of the plaintiff. No other charge was involved. The court, as is the practice in France, endeavored to bring about a reconciliation. Being unable to accomplish such a result, a divorce was granted on or about the 11th of February to each of the parties."

The decree gives both parties the right to remarry.

would then open wide the door and remain outside until the room was well aired out.

The metal had then been converted into "Billy Walker Silver."

No one was ever allowed to observe his work. Not even his own sons were ever given an inkling of his process, or what the metal was that he used.

Walker was the possessor of another secret that was the creation of his own brain that was a thousand times more valuable than the manufacture of his decorative silver.

It was a process of welding iron or steel. The welding was done without heat. He would unite pieces of steel, like the broken blade of a pen knife so perfectly that the break could not be detected. He could solidly weld two bars of iron by the same process.

I remember well of hearing of a joke that he played on some wood choppers who had left the timber and gone to dinner. They had all stuck their axes in stumps. Walker accidentally or purposely happened that way during their absence. He took one axe out of the stump and turned its pole onto the pole of another where he united them. All were so treated.

When the choppers returned, they found a lot of double bitted axes with two handles to each axe. This probably gave rise to the idea of a double bitted axe.

The writer can not vouch for the joke of the axes, but the following statement I know to be true.

Something like sixty-five years ago my father borrowed a compass saw of John Hamilton, a cabinet maker of Lattaville. A compass saw is about one foot long and at the handle is probably three-fourths of an inch wide and tapers to a sharp point.

While my father was using the saw it was broken in two in the middle. When it broke my father said "Now I will have to take it to Billy Walker." He did take it and it was so perfectly united that no eye could discover where it had been broken. No brazing or solder was used.

Writing of a queer character who once attracted wide attention in Ross county, Dr. J. B. F. Morgan, of Clarksburg, Ross county, in the Chillicothe News-Advertiser, says:

The articles published recently in various papers about the Hudson, O., blacksmith who thinks he has discovered a deposit of radium-bearing ore, and the stories told about his peculiarities and discoveries remind me of a peculiar character, who many years ago resided in Ross county, and who was noted for his eccentricities.

His name was William Walker and was a native of Scotland. He was a very small man, as I remember him and was very attractive in both body and mind. His home was on Upper Twin creek, in Twin township, and was probably three miles above Bourneville.

He was a gunsmith by occupation and had the reputation of making the best squirrel rifles that could be purchased any where. His guns were not only accurate in construction, but were highly decorated with silver, or what appeared to be silver.

In later years he revealed the fact that he manufactured the metal that he used by a process known to none other than himself.

The metal had all the appearance of silver when burnished. It was said that he placed the metal that he used in a peculiar kind of furnace that he had in his workshop where it had to remain for a certain time. When the metal was properly placed he would lock and leave the shop until the process was complete. He

MAY APPROVE A. T. & T. PLANS

Plans for disposition of $29,000,000 of Western Union Telegraph stock, held by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, to minority stockholders of the Western Union, probably will meet with the approval of the federal department of justice. In the absence of formal notification from the telephone company that such a plan had been adopted, officials at Washington yesterday refused to comment on the plan made public in New York, but it is known that when Attorney General McReynolds made his agreement with the Telephone Trust he expressed the opinion that such disposition of that company's Western Union holdings would offer an ideal solution of the problem of divorcing the two companies.

Officials were particularly interested in the selection by the telephone company of the bankers who are to underwrite the stock to be sold. The department, it was said, will not permit the underwriting to be done by a banking institution allied with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Mr. McReynolds is understood to be of the opinion that the actual separation of the telephone and telegraph companies should begin when the telephone company's Western Union stock goes to the underwriters.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. have been mentioned as underwriters, but department officials were not willing to say until investigation is made, if that firm would meet government approval.—Exchange.

Antiquity of the Mortgage.
The legal document known as a mortgage can be traced as far back as the dawn of authentic history. The mortgage comes directly down to us from the Romans, but its antiquity is much more remote than the Roman nation. The Greeks, Carthaginians, Persians, Egyptians, Babylonians, all knew of the mortgage and daily used it in their business transactions. It is safe to say that the custom of giving mortgages is practically as old as settled human society.

FURTHER PLANS OF C. & O. ROAD

Two-Track Line Up Scioto Valley Is Latest in Extension of C. & O., and New Line For B. & O. Also Mentioned as Result of Congestion Arising From Gigantic Coal Output

Discussing the announced plans of the C. & O. to bridge the Ohio at Portsmouth and send its lake coal traffic up the Scioto valley to Columbus for transfer to the Hocking Valley, the Huntington Herald-Dispatch says that President Stevens, of the C. & O., has not determined whether he will build a double track line from Portsmouth to Columbus, paralleling the N. & W., or use a third track, to be built by the N. & W. exclusively for C. & O. use for west-bound traffic. The Hocking Valley is also to be double-tracked from Valley Crossing to Toledo, the total cost of the improvement being $15,000,000.

Traffic congestion is the cause of the new move. Owing to delays in transferring coal shipments at Cincinnati, it takes a coal car now four weeks to make the round trip to the lakes. Under new conditions brought about by the bridge and new line to Columbus, a car can make the round trip in two weeks, it is estimated. This will enable the C. & O. to meet the demands of coal operators for more cars and mean the development of much new property, which is only being held up by poor shipping conditions.

The Herald-Dispatch says that "the reason that the bridge did not come to Huntington was that Pres. Stevens felt that the branch line of the Hocking Valley leading from Jackson, the nearest connecting point, or Wellston, is not heavy enough for a coal carrying road and that the expenditure required to put it in shape and double track it would be too great."

Huntington is not despairing of getting a bridge, however. It has hopes that the B. & O. will build one there and also a line up Symmes Creek valley in Ohio to Jackson.—Chillicothe News.

HAVE WE ANY COURTS?

A Columbus attorney has discovered that the judicial act by the legislature of 1913 is an unconstitutional act, and that therefore the circuit courts of appeal and the supreme court of the state have no powers. At least he thinks he has made that discovery, and he recites it to the court of appeals as a reason why it has no power to review an action of the common pleas court in a damage suit.

signed by the speaker of the house and the president of the senate on April 29, whereas the law required that bills shall be signed in the presence of the house and senate; and that the record shows that the senate and house adjourned sine die April 28. He also says that the record shows that the bill did not get the required constitutional two-thirds majority in the house and therefore was not passed.

The situation is an interesting one if nothing else. Ohio would be in a pretty pickle to wake up some morning and find that it has no circuit and supreme courts, and that the courts themselves have so decided. It might be a good thing if it would happen; the state might find out that it could get along without courts, except the common pleas, and that would save millions of dollars spent for litigation, and also a lot of labor which might otherwise be spent planting beans and onions.

But will the courts so decide? What do you think?—The Week.

The Moors of Today.
The Moors of today are the descendants of those who conquered Spain, who were practically paramount in the southern portion for two centuries and relics of whose wonderful buildings are to be found at the present day in that country. Indeed, it is strange to consider the position of the Moors of today when we see the work of their hands in past centuries, and the only explanation lies in the fact that they are unable to adapt themselves to modern conditions.—Strand Magazine.

I have often envied the Scotsman his easy, ingratiating manner, writes an Englishman in the Manchester Guardian, his gift of saying the gracious thing, as in this case, reported to me by a lady of the same race who heard the remark made. An old gentleman called upon a schoolmistress, told her his name and declared that he had not seen her for thirty years. As he pressed her hand and gazed into her face he murmured audibly, "Aye, and a bonnie lassie ye were then; but, ah, what time does!"

A FINE POINT TO THIS STORY

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 19.—After seven years of wandering through flesh and blood, the broken point of a needle that Mrs. Mary Stevens of Spokane ran into her hand, emerged this week from under a wisdom tooth in the back of her mouth. The little sliver of metal, about three-eighths of an inch long, was black as a coal, but still retained the point.

While working with a sewing machine in 1907, Mrs. Stevens was unfortunate enough to drive its needle point deep into the base of her thumb where it broke off. A physician called at the time took out what he thought was all of the steel implement, but the wound proved troublesome for Mrs. Stevens several weeks after. She intended to have the X-ray applied, but the doctor did not think it was necessary, and finally the needle point that she still felt in her hand disappeared.

LOOK FOR THE SOURCE.

In all our efforts to subdue ignorance and vice, to aid the feeble, to restore the erring, to relieve the oppressed, we need to look far deeper than the surface facts or the actual evils we would banish. "What is the source?" should be our constant inquiry, and against that, when we have found it, should our chief efforts be directed.

Wide Discussion of "Canadian Lure."

According to the report of the Senate Lobby Committee some 800,000 Americans have been enticed over Canada's borders during the last ten years.

Consequently the subject of "Canadian Lure" has aroused congressional wrath, more particularly against Canada's advertising campaign among American farmers, which is deemed largely responsible for the exodus from the States, than against the departure of the farmers.

The Lobby Committee is reported to have discovered that Canada has been spending $60,000 a year for this kind of advertising.

Of this amount some $42,000 was handled by Mr. Alfred Washington, advertising manager for the Western Newspaper Union. Upon his own testimony before the committee that this was true, Senator Nelson demanded, "You were hired by a foreign government to do an act of disloyalty to your own country. Are you not ashamed?"

Mr. Washington refused to believe that his acts had been either unpatriotic or disloyal.

The episode has brought up a fine moral issue, and developed considerable pro and con newspaper discussion.

The New York Telegraph exclaims, "What in the name of common sense is there to be ashamed of?" Adding, "Canada is not a bad country * * * Some day the United States will annex Canada, and it is not a bad idea to have a few hundred thousand of our own people already in the section."

A Western daily, the Boise City Evening Capital News, gives figures showing that we get nearly as many people each year from Canada as we lose to that country, making Canada's net gain comparatively small. Says the Capital News: "Former American farmers who were disappointed in the north are migrating from Canada back to America."

This statement is too much for the Canadian Immigration Department, which comes back by issuing a statement, appearing in the New York Sun, to the effect that such figures as these are incorrect or wrongly used, and that there is no decided drift from Canada back to the United States.

The Socialist organ, the New York Call, comments upon the departure of Middle Western farmers for Canada and the special regret this causes the "capitalist and capitalist politician" with considerable bitterness, and embraces the opportunity for a few knocks at the "American Capitalist."

The newspapers have played a regular battlecock and shutteldore game with this subject of Canadian advertising and have, whether intentionally or merely through a desire for catchy news, given Canada and her holdings an immense amount of free advertising.

Mr. Alfred Washington, expert advertising manager as he has proved, has found no better medium for arousing interest in Canada and her policies than in the open discussion given to "Canadian Lure" in the newspapers.

Men of Might In Finance Leading In Adjustments That Are Pending

By Secretary of Commerce WILLIAM C. REDFIELD

FOR ABOUT TWENTY YEARS THE BUSINESS ATMOSPHERE HAS BEEN FILLED WITH ADJECTIVES. INTERESTS HAVE BEEN CALLED "PREDATORY" AND "GRASPING." CORPORATIONS ARE SAID TO HAVE BEEN "MONOPOLISTIC." WE HAVE HEARD OF THE "POWERS THAT PREY." A VERITABLE ARSENAL OF VERBAL ATTACK HAS BEEN CREATED, AND THE PROJECTILE VALUES IN LANGUAGE HAVE BEEN USED TO THE FULL. A WORD OF SUCH HIGHLY RESPECTABLE ANTECEDENTS AS "TRUST" HAS DESCENDED FROM ITS ANCIENT ESTATE, AND ESPECIALLY IN ITS PLURAL FORM IS USED FOR THAT WHICH IS HELD INDUSTRIALLY UNJUSTIFIABLE.

It would be interesting, indeed, to trace the effect upon our language of the public discussion of commercial themes in recent years. It must be confessed that the combatants have DEALT LARGELY IN ABUSE as well as argument and that the STRUGGLE HAS NOT ALWAYS SHOWN ACCURATE KNOWLEDGE either of the principles of industry or of the righteous obligations of business to the public.

Too much perhaps there has been the spirit on one side that "what is wrong" and the assertion on the other hand that "what is right." Big business has often failed to see that its methods have aroused a JUST POPULAR RESENTMENT and that many of its past ideals and purposes were impossible and intolerable in a democracy. The men of financial and corporate power have had to learn that the WEAL OF THE WHOLE PEOPLE IS A SUPREME LAW to which their private interests must obediently bow.

THE BUSINESS CONSCIENCE HAS ITSELF AWAKENED TO A REALIZATION OF WRONGS COMMITTED IN THE NAME AND ON THE ALLEGED BEHALF OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY AND WILL TOLERATE THOSE WRONGS NO MORE. EVEN THE MEN OF MIGHT IN FINANCE ARE BECOMING MEN OF LIGHT AND LEADING IN THE NECESSARY ADJUSTMENTS THAT ARE PENDING. THE BUSINESS CONSCIENTIOUSNESS IS BECOMING LESS INDIVIDUAL AND MORE SOCIAL.

IDEALS.

There is but one bird sings like that:
From Paradise it flew,
Out of the world, with wavering
plumage gay,
When on creation's glad awakening
day
The morning wore the dew.

It is not nightingale or lark;
Oh, a diviner bird!
In moon-touched forests, sweet with
night and dew,
In dawn-stirred meadows, when the
Spring goes through,
Its voice was never heard.

Its nest; in bowers of fadeless bloom,
Nowhere that we can see,
The winds have never found it, and the rain
Of wasting Autumns beat the leaves
in vain
On that immortal tree.

Its age—its country. No man knows.
Born for the world's delight,
No bird that goes through splendors
of the dawn,
Or homeward comes, down quiet twilight
drawn,
Has wings for such far flight.

Can no man find it? All the world
Is seeking it—afar.
Each in his turn has cried, "Lo, it is mine!"
Oh, bitter-sweet! Still is the joy divine
Farther than flower from star.

NAMING NEGRO INVITES CLASH

Washington, Feb. 19. — President Wilson has invited a clash with certain southern Democratic senators by sending to the senate the nomination of Robert H. Terrell, a negro, for municipal court judge in the District of Columbia. Mr. Terrell was nominated to succeed himself. He was recommended to the president by Attorney General McReynolds and strongly endorsed by the local bar. He was appointed originally by President Roosevelt. He is a graduate of Harvard university.

Since 1857 there have been sixty disasters in the coaleries of South Wales, with a total loss of life of 2,908.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

SECRETARIES FIND MUCH PROSPERITY

Washington, Feb. 19.—The organization committee of the federal reserve system returned to Washington after having completed its schedule on hearings in 18 cities. Secretaries McAdoo and Houston joined in a formal statement to the effect that everywhere the committee found "overwhelming evidence of the enormous economic strength of the country and of the rapid progress of every section." They declared that their trip had disclosed to them a condition of "financial, industrial, commercial and agricultural soundness and prosperity that leaves no doubt as to the future."

Secretary McAdoo announced also that unless the new federal reserve banks are organized in time to meet the crop moving requirements next fall he will come forward with another government loan such as he volunteered to the farmers last fall.

CURTAIN DECIDES PARTITION CASE

In a decision handed down Wednesday in the case of Delbert Hays against Ellen Mallow, in which division of certain real estate was asked Judge Curtain held that each of the 17 heirs in the case are entitled to an equal part of the estate, instead of each of the six families receiving a one-sixth part, holding that inasmuch as some of the families were larger than others, that the division by families would be unequal.

Washington at Valley Forge

Suffered Much In "Times That Tried Men's Souls"

By W. H. RICHARDSON

[Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.]

THIS is the one hundred and thirty-sixth anniversary of one of the greatest crises in American history, the encampment of the Continental army during the terrible winter of 1777-8. The hungry and forlorn champions of a well nigh hopeless cause, wasted by wounds, privation and disease, finished their distressing campaign of the year and traced their weary way up over the old Gulph and Swedes' Ford roads to "occupy a cold, bleak hill and sleep under frost and snow without clothes or blankets" at Valley Forge.

It is said that in summer more pilgrims visit this historic spot every week than Washington had in his whole army then, but the real Valley Forge is not seen in summer. To get the proper "local color" one should go there in the dead of winter. Under the patronage of a great commonwealth Valley Forge park of this age presents an aspect of finely groomed landscape gardening, with broad, smooth highways leading to far and fair vistas and with countless markers bearing legends for the information of the unhistoric wayfarer.

The very name of Valley Forge suggests dreariness of soul. Its contemporary literature is somber with wretchedness and misery. It must not be imagined for one moment that the ragged and barefoot army went there and found those snug little chinked and chimneyed log huts, such as are now artistically spotted over the park, waiting for them with cheerful fires blazing on the hearths. They were details that took weeks to work out with ax and adz in the snow and sleet.

Valley Forge lies but twenty-two or twenty-three miles north of Philadelphia on the west bank of the Schuylkill river. It takes its name from an iron working plant established there many years before the militant Americans made it famous.

Almost the first object to attract the attention of the visitor upon disembarking from the railway train is the old pointed stone house of the miller, Isaac Potts, the structure which all America cherishes today as the headquarters of Washington for the half year the army was encamped upon the hills to the south.

In it he wrestled with problems that would have appalled ordinary men. Here he confronted and confounded the malign conspiracy of Conway; the misery and wretchedness of his suffering soldiers came home to him here, and it was here that he displayed a superhuman strength and courage in keeping alive through the long winter the feeble spark of a thing called the American Revolution.

It is amazing to contemplate the infinite variety of matters that were put up to the commander in chief. The butchers who killed the beef brought in by the foraging parties in the middle of January stung the soldiers by extorting money for the "plucks." The general settled that by stating definitely how the "pluck" should be issued.

The number of courts martial was prodigious, and it seems the general reviewed the findings of the court in some of the forty-eight hours he worked every day. "Lashes well laid on upon his bare back" was the ordinary punishment, and the stripes ranged in number from 30 to as high as 500—if a man wasted his ammunition by firing his piece unnecessarily, 39 lashes; desertion, 100 for that; stealing, 100, and so on. Twenty-four officers were cashiered or dismissed from service.

A German officer attached to the staff at Valley Forge, Frederick William Augustus Baron von Steuben, was appointed inspector general. This is from one of his accounts: "The arms at Valley Forge were in a horrible condition—covered with rust, half of them without bayonets, many from which a single shot could not be fired. The pouches were quite as bad as the arms. A great many of the men had tin boxes instead of pouches. Others had cow horns, and muskets, carbines, fowling pieces and rifles were to be seen in the same company. The description of the dress is most easily given. The men were literally naked, some of them in the fullest extent of the word. The officers who had coats had them of every color and make. I saw officers at a grand parade at Valley Forge mounting guard in a sort of dressing gown, made of an old blanket or a woolen bed cover. With regard to their military discipline I may safely say no such thing existed." So much for the organization and its equipment.

June 19, 1778, the army evacuated Valley Forge and started in haste after Sir Henry Clinton's 17,000 British and his twelve mile supply train. When the clash came at Monmouth on the 28th this wonderful weapon fashioned by the Prussian drillmaster on the dreary Pennsylvania hillsides proved its worth nobly, and but for the perfidy of that "d—d poltroon" Charles Lee it would doubtless have ended the war then and there.

An Enthusiast.

On the Long Island train were two fashionably dressed young matrons absorbed in the suffrage question.

"Do come march with me in the next parade," said the brunette with the tulle bow on her hat.

"Oh, I'd just love to," replied the blond in black velvet, "and I will unless Phil feels too strongly about it. He is rather old fashioned, you know."

"Yes, I know. So is George. But I do hope we can. All my life I've been simply wild to march behind a brass band."—New York Post.

FRAVERY.

It is not necessary to be brutal to be brave. All the world loves a brave man, but the courage that is reasoned with cheerfulness is the best courage. Great is the man who can bear a misfortune without trying to shirk it. Greater is he who can laugh at it and carry his cross as if it were a royal banner.

What Was Your County Vote?

Do you know how your county voted at the last state election, just how much of a majority it gave its choice for governor, or how the people of your community felt on any one of the amendments to the constitution? Or how many votes any party won or lost over two years before? These are interesting things to know, but they are hard to keep in mind.

Our OHIO ALMANAC remembers them for you. It is filled with 100,000 just such interesting facts—tax laws, school laws, game laws, manufacturing data, state officials, organizations of the state—everything you can think of as being connected with Ohio is there. It makes facinating reading, and authorities have compiled it for you.

Twenty-five cents is all it will cost you at this office, or 30c by mail, postpaid.

SHIRT AND UNDERWEAR FACTORY FOR THIS CITY

Mr. H. A. Stuart, of the Troy, New York, Shirt Company, Will Open Factory Here Within the Year, He Announces.

IS NOW SEEKING SUITABLE LOCATION

Has Several Propositions in View but May Purchase a Lot and Build Own Plant If He Cannot Purchase a Building at Reasonable Cost—Likes Washington and Will Make Future Home Here—Factory to Employ 75 Women and Men at Start.

It will be good news to Washington citizens to know that a new factory will be located in this city, and the man who is to bring it here—Mr. H. A. Stuart, of Troy, N. Y., announces that he wishes to start the factory with at least 50 women employees and 20 to 25 men, and that within a year or two he wishes to increase this number to 150 to 200 persons, to be employed at good wages.

Mr. Stuart is one of the owners of the Troy Shirt Company, and one of two branch factories of the same concern, and in an interview with The Herald states that he has positively decided to open a factory here, and that he asks no money whatsoever from Washington citizens, and the only thing he does ask is fair treatment—a thing a large number of business men have already assured him is accorded every newcomer who offers something good for Washington.

It is Mr. Stuart's intention to either buy a site and erect a building upon it, or to purchase a building outright and open the factory in it. Already he has three propositions in sight and is making a more careful investigation before closing for any particular piece of property.

One of the properties is the building in which the Ballard-Ford Hardware company is located. The other two are propositions which already contain buildings, but if the price of either is deemed too high, he will purchase a lot and erect a factory building after plans and specifications to suit the company.

"I have been searching about in towns of this size for four weeks, and have visited a large number of towns in four states, but nowhere have I found such an admirable place as this city. We are going to place a factory here, and we are going to pay a living wage, as we are now doing in New York and Pennsylvania," said Mr. Stuart. "In addition to a regular salary to start with, we are going to pay each girl $2 per week board, and after they learn the business we will put them on piece work where they will be able to increase their earnings," he continued.

He expressed himself as greatly pleased with Washington and Washington citizens, and stated that he would himself take charge of the factory here and become a citizen of Washington.

In addition to the manufacture of shirts, it is the intention of Mr. Stuart to equip the plant for the manufacture of ladies' underwear, and turn out shirts and underwear in large quantities. The produce of the factory at Troy, N. Y., is well known, and is already recognized as a standard garment, handled by dealers all over the land.

Within the next few days Mr. Stuart expects to close up negotiations for a suitable building or building lot, and if a building is purchased, very little time will elapse until the plant is opened and giving employment to 50 to 75 persons to start with. If he purchases a lot upon which to erect a building, a substantial structure will be erected early in the spring.

"My observation is," said Mr. Stuart, "that there is room for a half a dozen factories in this city, and every factory means additional inhabitants and consequent city growth."

Mr. Stuart is a gentleman of extremely pleasing personality, is about 60 years of age, and has no family, having buried his wife and daughter within a few days time a few years ago.

The fact that not a penny is asked from the city is all the greater evidence that Mr. Stuart means business, and Washington citizens are giving him hearty welcome.

GENERAL EPIDEMIC OF THE MEASLES

This city and county is apparently suffering from a general epidemic of the measles, and there are now two or three hundred cases in the county and city.

Most of the cases are not of a serious nature, as the disease is of a mild form, but several cases are reported where complications have arisen which place the patients in a rather serious condition.

The local health board is stamping out the disease in this city by rigid quarantine, and within a short time hope to eradicate the disease from the city.

Not only is the city and some parts of the county suffering from the epidemic of measles, but the disease seems prevalent all over central Ohio. So far as known the measles is the only epidemic that is causing annoyance in this county.

In most places the action taken by the local board of health, in quarantining all families where the disease has appeared, and in keeping the patients out of public gathering places.

CHICKEN THIEVES LEAVE AFTER SOME MORE URGING

Earl and Frank Thomas, the two chicken thieves of South Plymouth, left the community Thursday afternoon shortly after one o'clock after Deputy Sheriff Nelson had been started after them to bring them back to face Judge Allen under a suspended fine and workhouse sentence.

The pair lingered over the allotted time—Wednesday night—and Thursday when Judge Allen learned that they were remaining in the county he phoned them to "dig" or take the consequence. They agreed to go, and Thursday afternoon started out walking to get outside the county before they were apprehended and sent to the workhouse.

The men, although having little food in the house where they lived, maintained a telephone, and it was an easy manner to get in touch with them, which Judge Allen did and told them in no uncertain terms that their time to escape serving time in the workhouse was very limited. They took the hint.

A woman, said to be the wife of one of the men, went with them. The woman, according to information from neighbors, claimed that she had been detained against her wishes, and that she was anxious to escape from the man. A purse was raised with which to send her out of the place and to friends, but before the money was turned over to her, the pair returned from this city and she remained with the men. Her story is doubted, however.

The two men, it will be recalled, were arrested for the theft of chickens from Ford brothers, brought before Judge Allen, entered pleas of guilty, and were given $100 and the costs and ordered committed to the workhouse. However the fine was suspended providing they would leave

CAMPAIGN WORK PROGRESSES NICELY

Again several hundred dollars was reported by the workers in the Y. M. C. A. campaign when they met at the Association building Thursday noon, and after various plans of procedure were discussed at some length, it was agreed that no more announcements would be made until next Monday noon, when the committees again meet for luncheon and will make a report upon all cards they hold.

By that time they hope to make a splendid showing, and the promise to devote more time to the work was made, and better results are expected. The campaign will continue uninterrupted until probably Saturday night of next week, and by that time the workers expect to reach the coveted goal.

Considering the work so far, the results are pronounced highly encouraging, and each team will make an effort to make a splendid showing next Monday noon.

The report given to those who furnished money to pay the men's care, last Saturday, that they had used the money playing pool, has been found to be erroneous, as they "blind bagged" it into Milledgeville and used the 40c to purchase some food.

South Plymouth people are greatly pleased in having the community rid of the pair.

AGED RESIDENT CRITICALLY ILL

Cashmer Fortier, 81, of the Cochran Church Neighborhood, Suffers Stroke of Paralysis Which Leaves Him in a Critical Condition at Home of His Daughter.

Mr. Cashmer Fortier, better known as "Doc" Fortier, one of the best known residents of the Cochran church neighborhood south of this city, is confined to his bed in a very serious condition as the result of a stroke of paralysis Wednesday afternoon, which overtook him while he was at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Corda Ellis, of near Cochran church.

Mr. Fortier, who is 81 years of age, has spent most of his life in this county, and has a great number of friends who regret to learn of the affliction which has overcome him. His condition is said to be very critical, and owing to his advanced years there is little hope of his recovery. His entire right side is affected by the stroke, and he is in a perfectly helpless condition.

His son, Mr. H. C. Fortier, of this city, and daughter, Mrs. William DeWees of this city were notified at once of their father's critical condition.

Mrs. Alf. Coffey, of Dayton, another daughter, was also notified, and arrived on the Thursday morning train and hurried at once to her father's bedside, where the other children are.

Mr. Fortier is well known in this city and throughout southern Fayette. He came to this county from Canada more than a half century ago, and has since resided here.

GOOD THINGS AHEAD OF THE D. T. & I.

"We expect to reorganize on March 1st and immediately take steps to place the property in first class condition so that it will be a credit to the country served."

The above are the words of J. M. Kurn, general manager of the D. T. & I. railroad, and the news sounds good to Washington and Fayette Co. citizens who are interested in better service from the road.

In connection with the above words, it may be stated that when he was in this city recently and took a look at the passenger and freight depot here, he gave vent to his disgust in finding such a building at such an important point on the road.

Not only did he condemn the old structure in no uncertain terms, but he also pronounced the plans for the new combination freight and passenger station and yards, as inadequate, and it is understood that he will order new plans and specifications made for the building and tracks in this city.

It is the general opinion of railroad men that the new boss on the road is a "live wire" of high voltage.

CONTINENTALS' CURRENCY.

Massachusetts issued Bills of Credit to Pay Troops.

IMMEDIATELY after the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775, the people of Massachusetts took active steps to continue the struggle on which they were embarked. Before passing a resolution renouncing allegiance to General Gage, the colonial governor, the provincial congress voted to raise an army of 13,000 men, and in order to pay the troops it was decided to issue bills of credit or paper money to the amount of $375,000. The notes were issued in various small denominations so they could be used as currency.

The face of the note for 24 shillings bore the following on its face:

Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, August 18, 1775. The Possessor of this Bill shall be paid by the Treasurer of this colony TWENTY-FOUR SHILLINGS, Lawful Money, by the 18th of August, 1778, which bill shall be received for the aforesaid sum in all payments at the Treasury and in all other Payments by order of the General Assembly.

There was space for the signatures of members of the committee in charge of the issuing of the notes. On the reverse appeared a representation of a colonial soldier holding a naked sword in one hand and a scroll bearing the words, "Magna Charta," in the other. There was a Latin inscription of which

In Social Circles

The Woman's Missionary meeting of the Presbyterian church, held Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. M. E. Hitchcock was a most enjoyable one. Despite the stormy weather and slushy walking there was a large attendance.

The president, Mrs. Aus Hopkins, opened the meeting, making special reference to the closing of this Presbyterian year and the opening of the new with March 1st and the great fields of work which are ready for Christian effort.

Mrs. Jos. N. Wilson announced the topics for this month, "The American Indian" and "Korea" and gave some special clippings with regard to them. A very interesting letter from Mrs. Ottewill, formerly Miss Anne Quinn, of Hillsboro, and now wife of a British consul in China, was read and fully appreciated. Miss Jackson, leader on program, took the remainder of the meeting in charge. The roll call being answered by clippings on the topics of the month. Mrs. Harry Sprenger presented an able paper on "Notable Indians; Meeting Their Own Problems," and Mrs. Hopkins' characteristics of Korean Christians.

Accompanying this were most interesting extracts from a letter from Miss Jane Samuels, a Missionary in Korea who is a warm personal friend of Mrs. Hopkins and many others here and has visited in Washington. It was like dropping into China and Korea and taking notes personally of our own Indians to have so much as the program offered. A musical treat of two Indian songs was given by Mrs. Lillian Davis and her daughter, Lillian, Miss Kathleen Davis pianist. Also an Indian hunting chorus.

Just at the close of the meeting Mr. Ralph Watson, now of Winona, Ill., gave a ten minutes' talk on the le-ers, especially referring to the Miss Reed from Cincinnati, who went into the work in China, took the disease, but has kept on doing a great work there.

With Mrs. Hitchcock as assisting hostesses were: Mesdames Tuttle, Grafton, Meier, Lansinger, Emma Smith, Berryman, Frank Rothrock, Klever, Craig, Ireland, Kibler, Howland, Chas. Campbell, Devaney.

The Wesley Chapel Mite Society held a very interesting meeting with a large attendance of members at the home of Mrs. Gillespie Wednesday afternoon. Assisting Mrs. Gillespie as hostesses were: Mesdames Gage, Owens, Kidd, Price, Minshall and Fogle.

The following program was rendered: Papers were read by Mrs. Stuckey, Mrs. Tobin and Mrs. Mills. Vocal solo by Mrs. Ford, was accompanied by Hazel Gillespie, and Mrs. Rogers. Recitations by Leona Gibson. Duets were furnished by Mrs. Harry Rankin and Hazel Gillespie and Mildred and Mabel Kidd.

The social hour was much enjoyed and refreshments served.

The Women of the Mary Boyd Hale Bible Class were indebted to the "Bs" and the "Cs" of the class for a delightful Kensington at the home of Mrs. Jennie Bailey this afternoon.

Assisting Mrs. Bailey as hostess were Mesdames Barger, Bennett, Bowen, Bryant, Bryson, Butcher, Campbell, Carson, Colaw and a dainty luncheon was served.

Mrs. Louis Saxton charmingly entertained the Young Matrons' Bridge club this afternoon.

Mrs. Lewis Syester, of Hagarstown, Md., was an out of town guest.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. H. D. Pursell and daughter, Miss Marie, have moved from their Court street property, recently purchased by Mr. Kerns Thompson, of Madison Mills, to the home of Miss Sallie Pursell, of East street, where they will make their home for the present. Mr. Thompson and family will take possession of their new home at once.

Miss Marie Nisley, of Selden, is the guest of Mrs. Ellis Bishop.

The Ohio people in Florida are evidently having a delightful winter. In a letter to his son, Mr. Ellis Daugherty, Mr. M. S. Daugherty, who is located at Miami, Fla., writes of a picnic enjoyed by twenty-five Ohioans at Miami, the delightfully warm temperature, inviting out door spreads. Mr. Daugherty expects to be home the first of the week, Mrs. Daugherty remaining until warmer weather.

Thirteen year old Marguerite Sheldhouse underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Fayette Hospital Thursday morning.

A Martha Washington Masquerade and Old Time Spellin' Bee will be given in the basement of the Presbyterian church on Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, by "The Watch Tower Girls." Rev. Gage will pronounce words. Admission: Adults, 15c; children under 12, 10c. See big advt.

Dr. Gribble left this morning on the early train for Marietta, by way of Columbus, having received a telephone message from Mrs. Gribble notifying him of the death of a relative. The deceased is a sister of Mrs. Sarah A. Smith on Clinton avenue. The doctor will be absent about a week.

Miss Louise Skinner, of Greenfield, is visiting Miss Mariellen Wigginton.

Mrs. F. B. Creamer left yesterday for Hillsboro, to visit her mother, Mrs. Stephen Hickel.

COLLEGIATE QUARTET AGAIN DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE

Splendid Musical Organization Establishes New Precedent by Packing Grace Church in Face of Exceedingly Inclement Weather—High Class Entertainment Meets With Warm Approval From Large Audience of Lecture Course Patrons.

It certainly had to be a big drawing card to bring out through the seas of slush and water which covered the streets, and in a pouring rain the magnificent audience which filled Grace church Wednesday night to hear the "Collegiate Quartet", in concert. The splendid concert given by this quartet of artists last year had whetted musical appetites for more and undoubtedly was chiefly the cause of the large number braving weather conditions to hear them again.

With the exception of the "Madame Scotney" concert, which stands absolutely in a class by itself among the large number of concerts given in Grace church during the past decade, the "Collegiate Quartet" is distinctively the best aggregation of talent which the Washington Lecture committee has secured.

Purchasers of season tickets who heard both the Scotney and the Collegiate Quartet concerts were more than repaid for their expenditure without the other numbers of the course.

The personnel of last season's quartet was unchanged with the exception of the contralto, Miss Marguerite Dunlap taking the place of Miss Corinne Welsh.

In solos, duet and quartets the four singers proved themselves fully equal to all demands and gave a very beautiful program of high class concert numbers, which held the great audience in enthralled delight and brought an enthusiastic encore to every number.

The program was opened with the brilliant quartet from Rigoletto and as an encore the quartet sang one of their most beautiful numbers, "The Barcarole, Huffman.

Mrs. Edith Chapman Gould, whose brilliant high soprano, showed to immense advantage in the quartet work, also contributed charming solo numbers. Her encore, "The Cuckoo" was a very taking bit of song, following the lyric, "A Song of Sunshine." Mrs. Gould reaches her high notes with amazing ease.

The contralto was attractive in her personality and showed temperance in her interpretations. Her voice was smooth and lovely with much resonance in its tone quality. The little encore, "Mammy's Southern Song," was wonderfully sweet.

Mr. John Young, whose beautiful high tenor, rarely sympathetic, aroused so much pleasure last year, again charmed his listeners, and the bass, Mr. LaRue Boals, was a power in the perfect ensemble work of the quartet. The tenor and bass delighted the audience in their duet work.

Among the quartet numbers, the beautiful arrangement of "Annie Laurie" and "The Chocolate Soldier" met with notable response, although each number was a joy.

Miss Eleanor Stanley, the pianist and accompanist, added two piano numbers of contrasting style; a "Cradle Song," interpreted with much delicacy and musical feeling and giving brilliant execution to "The March of the Dwarfs".

The Name of Washington

A HUNDRED years with all their train Of shadows have gone by, And yet his glorious name remains A sound that cannot die. 'Tis graven on the hill, the vale And on the mountain tall And speaks in every sounding gale And roaring waterfall.

HIS deeds were ours, but through the world That mighty name will be, Where glory's banner is unfurled, The watchword of the free. And as they bend their eagle eyes On victory's burning sun Their shouts will echo to the skies, "Our God and Washington!"

Bread Cast Upon Water. When it came to his turn to give the mite in the Sunday collection, says the Glasgow News, he rummaged among his pocket's contents for a florin and some pennies for the customary cup per and, dropping it into the open box to his neighbor, saw a nudge at the box over he noticed to his horror, his shining florin among the coins it contained. He had given it in his haste for a penny. Without a moment's hesitation he seized the box and had gone too far, picked out the two shilling piece, substituted a penny for it and, blessing himself, allowed the collecting to proceed. Later, on making a chance inspection of his money, he found he had two florins.

INTERSTATE COMMISSION CONSIDERED

Wilson and McReynolds Consider Anti-Trust Legislation.

IN AGREEMENT ON MAIN POINTS

Trade Commission Will Be Separate Body From Department of Commerce and Will Keep Watch Over Corporations Reorganized by the Courts—Senate Alaskan Railroad Bill Goes Through the House.

Washington, Feb. 19. — President Wilson held an important conference with Attorney General McReynolds at the White House on the anti-trust program. At this conference considerable progress was made in clarifying the administration's purpose with regard to this important legislation.

The attorney general and Mr. Wilson are in agreement as to the caution which must be exercised in the drafting of the provisions of each measure in order that the efficiency of the Sherman anti-trust law may not be impaired. They are in accord also upon the scope of the powers to be given the bill creating the interstate trade commission. It is fairly certain now that the trade commission will be in substance a separate body from the department of commerce, having enlarged machinery for exercising the functions of the present bureau of corporations with some increased powers. To the commission will be entrusted the work of keeping watch over corporations reorganized by court decrees or voluntary agreements with the government.

Government Railroad in Alaska.

A railroad system in Alaska, to be constructed and operated by the federal government, is now assured. A bill authorizing the construction of such lines was passed by the house by a vote of 220 to 87. The senate already has approved the measure, but there are still some important differences that must be settled in conference. The bill as it passed the house provides a construction of a government railway system at a maximum cost of $35,000,000. The senate bill authorized an expenditure not to exceed $40,000,000.

Under the terms of the bill the

Mrs. Perkins Finds Swift Relief After First Dose of Mayr's Remedy.

MANUEL FORFEITS CLAIM TO THRONE

London.—Ex-King Manuel of Portugal will in future be compelled to get along on his own resources, for King George, from whom he has received $50,000 annually since his dethronement, has cut him off. At the same time the former ruler of Portugal loses the title of "king," so far as official England is concerned. This has also been ordered by King George as the outcome of Manuel's renunciation of his claims to the throne of Portugal forever in favor of the Braganzas.

The claim to the throne falls upon Dom Miguel of Braganza and under ordinary circumstances would devolve upon his son, Prince Miguel and husband of the former Anita Stewart, who would thereby receive the honorary title of "queen." In view of the fact that Prince Miguel has married a woman not of royal birth, his claim as pretender has been set aside in favor of his younger brother, who is now seven years old. Thus the hopes of Anita Stewart of becoming queen of Portugal are blasted forever.

This arrangement was adopted at a meeting of the Braganzas in Vienna and followed the announcement to all the courts of Europe that Manuel had renounced his claims to the throne upon his marriage to Princess Augustine of Hohenzollern at Sigmaringen. Manuel thereby carried out the wish of his father-in-law, who refused to give his daughter under any other conditions, as he feared that bloodshed would accompany any attempt on Manuel's part to regain his throne, and he did not wish his daughter to run the risk of falling into the hands of the mob.

In so doing Manuel cut himself off from the purse of King George, who only recently learned the facts. The official order depriving Manuel of his title in England stated that it was done on "account of the internal conditions in Portugal."

It is well known that Manuel, through his apathy in regard to regaining his throne, has lost the sympathy of King Alfonso of Spain and a host of royalists who would have been willing to follow his lead. These followers will now flock to the standard of the Braganzas. There is no reason to believe that the new pretenders to the throne of Portugal will take any decisive steps in the near future, as it is expected in many quarters that the republic of Portugal is nearing its end of its own accord.

Anita Stewart is the daughter of William Rhinelander Stewart and was married to Prince Miguel of Braganza on Sept. 15, 1909. Her mother, after her divorce, married the late John Henry Smith. Miguel was at the time of the Portuguese revolution spoken of as a substitute for Manuel.

Pleasant For Aunt.

The rich maiden aunt was calling on her poor relations.

"And where is little Tommy?" she inquired, looking round for her favorite.

Little Tommy was brought in carrying a large tumbler, from which he refused to be parted.

"Do drink this, auntie," he said.

"And why should I drink it, dear?"

"Because I want to see you."

"And why do you want to see me drink it?"

"Because papa says you drink like a fish."—London Mail.

The Genius.

"A genius, as an old lady in Hannibal once explained to me, is a man what knows more'n he can find out and spills vittles on his clothes."

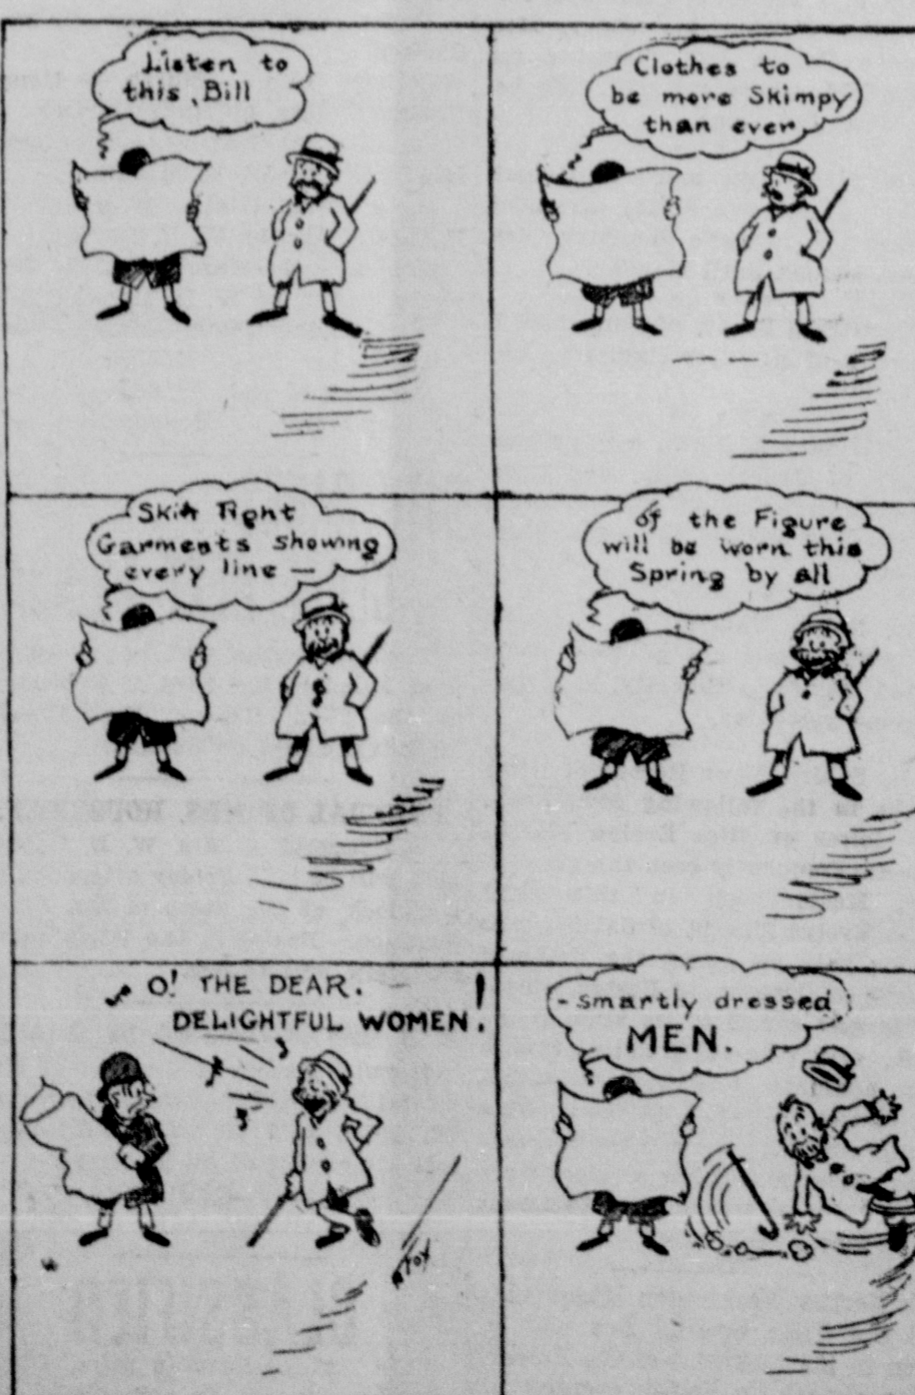

Making It Last.

A young man was lately leaving his aunt's house after a visit when, finding it was beginning to rain, he caught up an umbrella that was snugly placed in a corner and was proceeding to open it when the old lady, who for the first time observed his movements, sprang toward him, exclaiming: "No, no; that you never shall! I've had that umbrella twenty-three years, and it has never been wet yet, and I am sure it shan't be wetted now!"—London Express.

GAIN MADE IN FOREIGN TRADE FOR PAST YEAR

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—The detailed figures of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, show the imports into and the exports from the United States for the calendar year 1913 in comparison with the corresponding period of 1912, by grand divisions and principal countries.

Europe is far in the lead among the grand divisions both in selling to us and in buying from us. Our imports from that grand division in 1913 were $864,986,250 or $35,017,691 less than in 1912, and practically one-half our total imports. Our exports there to in the past year were $1,499,572,363, or $32,120,529 more than in 1912, and almost three-fifths our total exports. The balance of trade with Europe is strongly in favor of the United States and is increasing, amounting to $634,586,113 in 1913 as compared with $567,447,890 in the preceding year.

North America is second, selling to us goods valued at $389,951,176 in 1913 and buying from us goods aggregating $601,476,159 in value.

Asia, South America, Oceania, and Africa follow in the order named in selling to us, and in buying from us South America ranks third, with Asia next, followed by Oceania and Africa. This order was the same in both 1912 and 1913. With all four of these grand divisions the balance of trade is against us, but the total balance of trade for the four amounts to only $158,839,147 in 1913. The growth of trade strongly favors the United States, for, with a volume of business in 1913 amounting to $18,636,170 more than in 1912, the balance of trade against us was $30,952,452 less.

Green Sunsets.

Green sunsets seen by the Russian explorers in the polar regions have been matched in England. Throughout November and December of 1883 the sunsets and afterglows were of wonderful intensity and varied colors. At Chelsea especially the sun went down over the Thames amid a blaze of unearthly beauty ranging from deepest red to green, as may be seen in a series of water color sketches made at the time and now preserved in the Chelsea free library. Sir Norman Lockyer and other astronomers attributed these winter sunsets to the volcanic dust projected by the great eruption of Krakatoa, in Java, in the previous August.

WILL AIMED AT UNFAIR RATES

Washington, Feb. 19.—Legislation aimed at the so-called shipping trust, comprised in large part of certain foreign steamship "pools," will be presented to the house following the filing of a report on the subject by the committee on merchant marine and fisheries. In the last congress the house committee undertook an inquiry into the activities of the shipping trusts, and the statement of facts with proposed recommendations for legislation has just been completed by Representative Alexander of Missouri, chairman of the committee.

The committee seems to be agreed that the steamship pools, working in conjunction with line carriers in this country, impose conditions on some shippers that are burdensome. Inquiries are that the committee will endorse recommendations proposed by Chairman Alexander, that the steamship combines should be prohibited by law from exercising arbitrary powers in routing shipments and that discriminations in the matter of rates should be made the subject of supervision by the interstate commerce commission.

GOLD MEDALS FOR KROONLAND HEROES

Washington, Feb. 19.—In a resolution the house committee on merchant marine proposes to honor Captain Paul H. Kreibohn of the steamship Kroonland in recognition of his heroism in rescuing 39 persons from the steamship Voltorno, which caught fire in the Atlantic ocean early in October last. The resolution carries an appropriation of $10,000. It directs that a $250 gold watch and chain shall be presented to Captain Kreibohn, that gold medals shall be awarded to each of the five officers who assisted in the rescue, similar medals to the five petty officers and bronze medals for the crew. The resolution provides that the gifts shall be presented to officers and crew by President Wilson.

CARS CRASH KILLING FOUR INDIANA MEN

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 19.—Two persons were killed, six probably fatally injured and 25 others hurt when an outbound English avenue street-car was crushed between two heavy traction cars. The accident was caused by slippery rails.

The dead: James Horan, 16; Jacob K. Hardy, 48; Fletcher Roark, Harry Oliver. Seriously injured: John Kane, body crushed; Mrs. E. C. Fesler, spine injured; George Shirk, body crushed; Harry Vinney, body crushed; R. C. Jochum, body crushed.

The English avenue car, loaded with persons homeward bound from the business section, stopped at the foot of a steep grade, just behind a Columbus & Southern traction car, and a large Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction freight car, on the grade behind the city car, crashed into the smaller car.

DOES LAW COVER RAILWAY MERGER?

Washington, Feb. 19.—It is now up to the interstate commerce commission to inform the senate whether, in its opinion, the proposed merger of the New York Central railroad and the Lake Shore is within the law. The commission heard final testimony and argument on the merger, which involves the issuance of $167,102,400 4 per cent bonds to take the place of 3 1/2 per cent bonds outstanding.

The investigation into the matter was directed by a resolution of the senate, and considerable testimony has been taken. Among the witnesses that have appeared was Pierpont Morgan, who testified that the consolidation was essential to the welfare of the railroads involved and in order that they might finance themselves on the form of a single system and not piecemeal.

So Cammerelli shot the girl twice and himself once. Both were taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where it is said that they both may die.

LOOMS LARGE

Washington, Dec. 19.—The issue raised by President Wilson's determination to have the free tolls provision in the Panama canal act repealed is rapidly assuming the foremost place in congress. There are evidences that the president will meet stronger and sharper opposition within his own party on this question than any other that has been raised. Senator Bristow of Kansas fired the opening gun for the Republicans, who are opposed to a repeal of this provision. Senator Bristow attacked the president sharply, alleging inconsistency.

While Senator Bristow was delivering his speech, the president was in conference with Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader of the house, trying to win him over to the administration's view on this subject. Mr. Underwood, however, left the White House still opposed to a repeal of the free tolls provision.

NOW, MARGARET, TELL THE TRUTH

Washington, Feb. 19.—It is reported that Miss Margaret Wilson is to be the bride of Boyd Fisher of Princeton and New York, a well known social worker. Strength is given to the rumor by the frequent week-end visits of Mr. Fisher to the White House and his constant appearance by the side of Miss Wilson's car.

New York, Feb. 19.—It is strongly indicated that Republican leaders will try hard to get Elihu Root to stand for re-election to the United States senate this fall. Mr. Root was 69 years old on Sunday last. He has told his friends that he would like to retire from public life when his present term ends.

GOETHALS COMING

New York, Feb. 19.—Colonel George W. Goethals, who will become the first governor of the canal zone on April 1, is due here today aboard the steamship Metapan. Colonel Goethals is bound for Washington to confer with President Wilson on appointments and administration work under the new canal law.

SEVEN CASTILLO BANDITS KILLED

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 19.—Rebel troops from Juarez, under command of Major Samaniego, encountered a part of Maximo Castillo's bandit band south of Juarez, in the vicinity of Guzman, which is 77 miles from the border, and killed seven of them. The others, about 20 in number, escaped in the direction of Juarez, and General Villa hurriedly dispatched a force to the scene of the encounter in an effort to catch the bandits between two lines of troops.

Castillo and the six men captured with him near Alamo Nuevo ranch, on the New Mexico line, will be brought to El Paso. They will be interned at the prison camp at Fort Bliss and Castillo himself will probably be locked in the post guard-house. Castillo, though sullen and noncommunicative, still maintains that he had no connection with the Cumbre tunnel horror.

Braulio Hernandez, former secretary of the state of Chihuahua, who for a time was in the field with Castillo, but is now in El Paso, offered affidavits from a Mexican man and woman who declare that a sister of Major Samaniego of Villa's army told them that Samaniego's men wrecked the train and burned it in the tunnel to give the impression to the world that it was Castillo and give Villa great credit as a man of order if he ran down and destroyed Castillo's band.

UNABLE TO AGREE

Philadelphia, Feb. 19.—Operators and miners of the central competitive bituminous coal district, who have been discussing a new wage agreement here for more than 10 days, will probably adjourn without having reached any settlement of their differences. The demand of the miners that work shall be paid for on the mine-run basis and the unwillingness of the operators to continue the "check-off" system, by which the dues of the union are collected, are the principal points in the controversy.

Bigelow, Professor of Biology at Columbia University, in an address today before the annual conference of the District Superintendents of Schools of New York State. "But sex education", he said, "has nothing to do with red light dramas or moving pictures of white slavery." These he condemned. "The commercial exploitation of sex", said Dr. Bigelow, "unfortunately runs parallel to our plan for the instruction of sex study in schools which is to be an outgrowth of the study of biology. The false theatrical view of life over the footlights is not educational."

OKLAHOMA JURY VINDICATES GORE

Takes One Ballot and Unanimously Returns a Verdict in Favor of Oklahoma's Eloquent Blind Senator.

OUT TWO AND A HALF MINUTES

Mrs. Bond Denied Even One Penny of the $50,000 She Asked For Alleged Assault—Will Appeal the Case.

Oklahoma City, Feb. 19.—Upon the testimony of Mrs. Minnie E. Bond and her own witnesses, Senator T. P. Gore was vindicated of any wrong conduct towards Mrs. Bond by a jury in the district court here. The jury was in the jury room two minutes and a half, and one ballot was taken. It was unanimous for Senator Gore and denied Mrs. Bond one cent of the $50,000 she asked from the blind senator, who she had charged with attempting to assault her in the Winston hotel in Washington on March 24 last.

"We find," the jury stated in the verdict, "the evidence submitted by the plaintiff entirely insufficient upon which to base a suit; that said evidence wholly exonerates the defendant and had the defendant, at the conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence announced that he desired to introduce no evidence and rested his case, our verdict would have been the same in that event as now returned by us, in favor of the defendant."

Judge Clark read the verdict. At his final words, "in favor of the defendant," those near the front of the room heard Mrs. Gore utter a stifled cry as she leaped from her chair, grasped the hand of Senator Gore and whispered something into his ear. When she turned and shook hands with Henry Carpenter, the foreman of the jury, tears were streaming down the faces of both she and the aged farmer. Senator Gore merely smiled. Simultaneously with the cry of Mrs. Gore, a great cheer arose from the spectators.

During the reading of the verdict there was no perceptible change in the expression of Mrs. Bond's face. E. J. Giddings, attorney for Mrs. Bond, announced that he will appeal the case to the state supreme court on the ground that the jury was influ-

BANDIT HOLDS AN AMERICAN

By Associated Press.

El Paso, Texas, February 19.—A telegram covering the case of William S. Benton, who disappeared in Juarez Tuesday night was sent to the British Ambassador at Washington, from here today. The case has aroused great interest here. Benton, who is a mine owner and ranchman, is considered wealthy. He has known Francisco Villa for many years, and his wife and friends hope that the Rebel general is merely disciplining him for his outspoken protest against Rebel depredations on his estate. Benton's remarks to Villa, whom he called a bandit, were deliberate. A rather vague report reached Mrs. Benton today that her husband was in jail in Juarez.

The girl is unable to give but a meager account of her experiences. Sheriff Willock, of Meigs county, does not believe the girl is the Winters girl. Davis said he adopted her, securing her from the Cambridge, Ohio, Children's Home over a year ago.

Cambridge, Ohio, February 19.—The officials of the Children's Home here cast doubt upon the belief that the girl held by Mayor Jones, at Middleport, is missing Catharine Winters of Newcastle, Ind. They say a man named Joseph Davis had a girl of the same name, Rose Davis, with him in a camp near here three years ago; that she was taken from him by humane officers and placed in the home here April 19, 1911. Later he kidnapped the girl from the home, was captured and sent to the Ohio penitentiary for burglary. After his release Davis returned here and claimed the child who was discharged to him August 7, 1912.

PAIR SEPARATED BY THE FRENCH COURT

Clarence Mackay and Wife Granted Mutual Divorce.

DESERTION THE ONLY CHARGE

Couple Departed For Paris Following Filing of Million-Dollar Alienation Suit Against Mrs. Mackay by the Wife of a Famous New York Surgeon — Husband Awarded Custody of the Children.

New York, Feb. 19. — Advice received here from Paris brought the information that Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mackay have obtained a French decree of divorce in Paris. The decree, signed by the French tribunal, was handed down within the last few days.

The divorce was obtained by mutual agreement between the millionaire cable owner and his wife. It was stated that soon after Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, wife of the famous surgeon, had filed her $1,000,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Mackay attorneys for the Mackays tried to make an amicable arrangement between them and obtain divorce, but this fell through. A public divorce suit was threatened, and to escape the attendant publicity, Mrs. Mackay agreed to go to Paris and get the divorce on allegations of desertion.

John B. Stanchfield, counsel for Mrs. Mackay, made the following statement: "In December last Mrs. Mackay sailed for Europe and took up her residence in an apartment at Paris. She brought suit against Mr. Mackay for a divorce on the ground of desertion. He voluntarily appeared in the action and interposed a counter claim alleging desertion on the part of the plaintiff. No other charge was involved. The court, as is the practice in France, endeavored to bring about a reconciliation. Being unable to accomplish such a result, a divorce was granted on or about the 11th of February to each of the parties."

The decree gives both parties the right to remarry.

would then open wide the door and remain outside until the room was well aired out.

The metal had then been converted into "Billy Walker Silver."

No one was ever allowed to observe his work. Not even his own sons were ever given an inkling of his process, or what the metal was that he used.

Walker was the possessor of another secret that was the creation of his own brain that was a thousand times more valuable than the manufacture of his decorative silver.

It was a process of welding iron or steel. The welding was done without heat. He would unite pieces of steel, like the broken blade of a pen knife so perfectly that the break could not be detected. He could solidly weld two bars of iron by the same process.

I remember well of hearing of a joke that he played on some wood choppers who had left the timber and gone to dinner. They had all stuck their axes in stumps. Walker accidentally or purposely happened that way during their absence. He took one axe out of the stump and turned its pole onto the pole of another where he united them. All were so treated.

When the choppers returned, they found a lot of double bitted axes with two handles to each axe. This probably gave rise to the idea of a double bitted axe.

The writer can not vouch for the joke of the axes, but the following statement I know to be true.

Something like sixty-five years ago my father borrowed a compass saw of John Hamilton, a cabinet maker of Lattaville. A compass saw is about one foot long and at the handle is is probably three-fourths of an inch wide and tapers to a sharp point.

While my father was using the saw it was broken in two in the middle. When it broke my father said "Now I will have to take it to Billy Walker." He did take it and it was so perfectly united that no eye could discover where it had been broken. No brazing or solder was used.

Writing of a queer character who once attracted wide attention in Ross county, Dr. J. B. F. Morgan, of Clarksburg, Ross county, in the Chillicothe News-Advertiser, says:

The articles published recently in various papers about the Hudson, O., blacksmith who thinks he has discovered a deposit of radium-bearing ore, and the stories told about his peculiarities and discoveries remind me of a peculiar character, who many years ago resided in Ross county, and who was noted for his eccentricities.

His name was William Walker and was a native of Scotland. He was a very small man, as I remember him and was very attractive in both body and mind. His home was on Upper Twin creek, in Twin township, and was probably three miles above Bourneville.

He was a gunsmith by occupation and had the reputation of making the best squirrel rifles that could be purchased anywhere. His guns were not only accurate in construction, but were highly decorated with silver, or what appeared to be silver.

In later years he revealed the fact that he manufactured the metal that he used by a process known to none other than himself.

The metal had all the appearance of silver when burnished. It was said that he placed the metal that he used in a peculiar kind of furnace that he had in his workshop where it had to remain for a certain time. When the metal was properly placed he would lock and leave the shop until the process was complete. He

Plans for disposition of $29,000,000 of Western Union Telegraph stock, held by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, to minority stockholders of the Western Union, probably will meet with the approval of the federal department of justice. In the absence of formal notification from the telephone company that such a plan had been adopted, officials at Washington yesterday refused to comment on the plan made public in New York, but it is known that when Attorney General McReynolds made his agreement with the Telephone Trust he expressed the opinion that such disposition of that company's Western Union holdings would offer an ideal solution of the problem of divorcing the two companies.

Officials were particularly interested in the selection by the telephone company of the bankers who are to underwrite the stock to be sold. The department, it was said, will not permit the underwriting to be done by a banking institution allied with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Mr. McReynolds is understood to be of the opinion that the actual separation of the telephone and telegraph companies should begin when the telephone company's Western Union stock goes to the underwriters.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. have been mentioned as underwriters, but department officials were not willing to say until investigation is made, if that firm would meet government approval.—Exchange.

Antiquity of the Mortgage.
The legal document known as a mortgage can be traced as far back as the dawn of authentic history. The mortgage comes directly down to us from the Romans, but its antiquity is much more remote than the Roman nation. The Greeks, Carthaginians, Persians, Egyptians, Babylonians, all knew of the mortgage and daily used it in their business transactions. It is safe to say that the custom of giving mortgages is practically as old as settled human society.

FURTHER PLANS OF C. & O. ROAD

Two-Track Line Up Scioto Valley Is Latest in Extension of C. & O., and New Line For B. & O. Also Mentioned as Result of Congestion Arising From Gigantic Coal Output

Discussing the announced plans of the C. & O. to bridge the Ohio at Portsmouth and send its lake coal traffic up the Scioto valley to Columbus for transfer to the Hocking Valley, the Huntington Herald-Dispatch says that President Stevens, of the C. & O., has not determined whether he will build a double track line from Portsmouth to Columbus, paralleling the N. & W., or use a third track, to be built by the N. & W. exclusively for C. & O. use for west-bound traffic. The Hocking Valley is also to be double-tracked from Valley Crossing to Toledo, the total cost of the improvement being $15,000,000.

Traffic congestion is the cause of the new move. Owing to delays in transferring coal shipments at Cincinnati, it takes a coal car now four weeks to make the round trip to the lakes. Under new conditions brought about by the bridge and new line to Columbus, a car can make the round trip in two weeks, it is estimated. This will enable the C. & O. to meet the demands of coal operators for more cars and mean the development of much new property, which is only being held up by poor shipping conditions.

The Herald-Dispatch says that "the reason that the bridge did not come to Huntington was that Pres. Stevens felt that the branch line of the Hocking Valley leading from Jackson, the nearest connecting point, or Wellston, is not heavy enough for a coal carrying road and that the expenditure required to put it in shape and double track it would be too great.

HAVE WE ANY COURTS?

A Columbus attorney has discovered that the judicial act by the legislature of 1913 is an unconstitutional act, and that therefore the circuit courts of appeal and the supreme court of the state have no powers. At least he thinks he has made that discovery, and he recites it to the court of appeals as a reason why it has no power to review an action of the common pleas court in a damage suit.

The attorney says that the act was signed by the speaker of the house and the president of the senate on April 29, whereas the law required that bills shall be signed in the presence of the house and senate; and that the record shows that the senate and house adjourned sine die April 28. He also says that the record shows that the bill did not get the required constitutional two-thirds majority in the house and therefore was not passed.

The situation is an interesting one if nothing else. Ohio would be in a pretty pickle to wake up some morning and find that it has no circuit and supreme courts, and that the courts themselves have so decided. It might be a good thing if it would happen; the state might find out that it could get along without courts, except the common pleas, and that would save millions of dollars spent for litigation, and also a lot of labor which might otherwise be spent planting beans and onions.

But will the courts so decide? What do you think?—The Week.

The Moors of Today.
The Moors of today are the descendants of those who conquered Spain, who were practically paramount in the southern portion for two centuries and relics of whose wonderful buildings are to be found at the present day in that country. Indeed, it is strange to consider the position of the Moors of today when we see the work of their hands in past centuries, and the only explanation lies in the fact that they are unable to adapt themselves to modern conditions.—Strand Magazine.

An old gentleman called upon a schoolmistress, told her his name and declared that he had not seen her for thirty years. As he pressed her hand and gazed into her face he murmured audibly, "Aye, and a bonnie lassie ye were then; but, ah, what time does!"

A FINE POINT TO THIS STORY

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 19.—After seven years of wandering through flesh and blood, the broken point of a needle that Mrs. Mary Stevens of Spokane ran into her hand, emerged this week from under a wisdom tooth in the back of her mouth. The little sliver of metal, about three-eighths of an inch long, was black as a coal, but still retained the point.

While working with a sewing machine in 1907, Mrs. Stevens was unfortunate enough to drive its needle point deep into the base of her thumb where it broke off. A physician called at the time took out what he thought was all of the steel implement, but the wound proved troublesome for Mrs. Stevens several weeks after. She intended to have the X-ray applied, but the doctor did not think it was necessary, and finally the needle point that she still felt in her hand disappeared.

LOOK FOR THE SOURCE.

In all our efforts to subdue ignorance and vice, to aid the feeble, to restore the erring, to relieve the oppressed, we need to look far deeper than the surface facts or the actual evils we would banish. "What is the source?" should be our constant inquiry, and against that, when we have found it, should our chief efforts be directed.

Wide Discussion of "Canadian Lure."

According to the report of the Senate Lobby Committee some 800,000 Americans have been enticed over Canada's borders during the last ten years.

Consequently the subject of "Canadian Lure" has aroused congressional wrath, more particularly against Canada's advertising campaign among American farmers, which is deemed largely responsible for the exodus from the States, than against the departure of the farmers.

The Lobby Committee is reported to have discovered that Canada has been spending $60,000 a year for this kind of advertising.

Of this amount some $42,000 was handled by Mr. Alfred Washington, advertising manager for the Western Newspaper Union. Upon his own testimony before the committee that this was true, Senator Nelson demanded, "You were hired by a foreign government to do an act of disloyalty to your own country. Are you not ashamed?"

Mr. Washington refused to believe that his acts had been either unpatriotic or disloyal.

The episode has brought up a fine moral issue, and developed considerable pro and con newspaper discussion.

The New York Telegraph exclaims, "What in the name of common sense is there to be ashamed of?" Adding, "Canada is not a bad country * * * Some day the United States will annex Canada, and it is not a bad idea to have a few hundred thousand of our own people already in the section."

A Western daily, the Boise City Evening Capital News, gives figures showing that we get nearly as many people each year from Canada as we lose to that country, making Canada's net gain comparatively small. Says the Capital News: "Former American farmers who were disappointed in the north are migrating from Canada back to America."

This statement is too much for the Canadian Immigration Department, which comes back by issuing a statement, appearing in the New York Sun, to the effect that such figures as these are incorrect or wrongly used, and that there is no decided drift from Canada back to the United States.

The Socialist organ, the New York Call, comments upon the departure of Middle Western farmers for Canada and the special regret this causes the "capitalist and capitalist politician" with considerable bitterness, and embraces the opportunity for a few knocks at the "American Capitalist."

The newspapers have played a regular battlecock and shuttlecock game with this subject of Canadian advertising and have, whether intentionally or merely through a desire for catchy news, given Canada and her holdings an immense amount of free advertising.

Mr. Alfred Washington, expert advertising manager as he has proved, has found no better medium for arousing interest in Canada and her policies than in the open discussion given to "Canadian Lure" in the newspapers.

Men of Might In Finance Leading In Adjustments That Are Pending

By Secretary of Commerce WILLIAM C. REDFIELD

FOR ABOUT TWENTY YEARS THE BUSINESS ATMOSPHERE HAS BEEN FILLED WITH ADJECTIVES. INTERESTS HAVE BEEN CALLED "PREDATORY" AND "GRASPING." CORPORATIONS ARE SAID TO HAVE BEEN "MONOPOLISTIC." WE HAVE HEARD OF THE "POWERS THAT PREY." A VERITABLE ARSENAL OF VERBAL ATTACK HAS BEEN CREATED, AND THE PROJECTILE VALUES IN LANGUAGE HAVE BEEN USED TO THE FULL. A WORD OF SUCH HIGHLY RESPECTABLE ANTECEDENTS AS "TRUST" HAS DESCENDED FROM ITS ANCIENT ESTATE, AND ESPECIALLY IN ITS PLURAL FORM IS USED FOR THAT WHICH IS HELD INDUSTRIALLY UNJUSTIFIABLE.

It would be interesting, indeed, to trace the effect upon our language of the public discussion of commercial themes in recent years. It must be confessed that the combatants have DEALT LARGELY IN ABUSE as well as argument and that the STRUGGLE HAS NOT ALWAYS SHOWN ACCURATE KNOWLEDGE either of the principles of industry or of the righteous obligations of business to the public.

Too much perhaps there has been the spirit on one side that "what is wrong" and the assertion on the other hand that "what is right." Big business has often failed to see that its methods have aroused a JUST POPULAR RESENTMENT and that many of its past ideals and purposes were impossible and intolerable in a democracy. The men of financial and corporate power have had to learn that the WEAL OF THE WHOLE PEOPLE IS A SUPREME LAW to which their private interests must obediently bow.

THE BUSINESS CONSCIENCE HAS ITSELF AWAKENED TO A REALIZATION OF WRONGS COMMITTED IN THE NAME AND ON THE ALLEGED BEHALF OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY AND WILL TOLERATE THOSE WRONGS NO MORE. EVEN THE MEN OF MIGHT IN FINANCE ARE BECOMING MEN OF LIGHT AND LEADING IN THE NECESSARY ADJUSTMENTS THAT ARE PENDING. THE BUSINESS CONSCIENTIOUSNESS IS BECOMING LESS INDIVIDUAL AND MORE SOCIAL.

Poetry For Today

IDEALS.

There is but one bird sings like that,
From Paradise it flew,
Out of the world, with wavering
plumage gay,
When on creation's glad awakening
day
The morning wore the dew.

It is not nightingale or lark;
Oh, a diviner bird!
In moon-touched forests, sweet with
night and dew.
In dawn-stirred meadows, when the
Spring goes through.
Its voice was never heard.

Its nest; in bowers of fadeless bloom,
Nowhere that we can see,
The winds have never found it, and
the rain
Of wasting Autumns beat the leaves
in vain
On that immortal tree.

Its age—its country. No man knows.
Born for the world's delight.
No bird that goes through splendors
of the dawn,
Or homeward comes, down quiet twilight
drawn,
Has wings for such far flight.

Can no man find it? All the world
Is seeking it—afar.
Each in his turn has cried, "Lo, it is mine!"
Oh, bitter-sweet! Still is the joy divine
Farther than flower from star.

Washington at Valley Forge

Suffered Much In "Times That Tried Men's Souls"

By W. H. RICHARDSON

[Copyright, 1914, by American Press Association.]

THIS is the one hundred and thirty-sixth anniversary of one of the greatest crises in American history, the encampment of the Continental army during the terrible winter of 1777-8. The hungry and forlorn champions of a well nigh hopeless cause, wasted by wounds, privation and disease, finished their distressing campaign of the year and traced their weary way up over the old Gulph and Swedes' Ford roads to "occupy a cold, bleak hill and sleep under frost and snow without clothes or blankets" at Valley Forge.

It is said that in summer more pilgrims visit this historic spot every week than Washington had in his whole army then, but the real Valley Forge is not seen in summer. To get the proper "local color" one should go there in the dead of winter. Under the patronage of a great commonwealth Valley Forge park of this age presents an aspect of finely groomed landscape gardening, with broad, smooth highways leading to far and fair vistas and with countless markers bearing legends for the information of the unhistoric wayfarer.

The very name of Valley Forge suggests dreariness of soul. Its contemporary literature is somber with wretchedness and misery. It must not be imagined for one moment that the ragged and barefoot army went there and found those snug little chinked and chimneyed log huts, such as are now artistically spotted over the park, waiting for them with cheerful fires blazing on the hearths. They were details that took weeks to work out with ax and adz in the snow and sleet. Valley Forge lies but twenty-two or twenty-three miles north of Philadelphia on the west bank of the Schuylkill river. It takes its name from an iron working plant established there many years before the militant Americans made it famous.

Almost the first object to attract the attention of the visitor upon disembarking from the railway train is the old pointed stone house of the miller, Isaac Potts, the structure which all America cherishes today as the headquarters of Washington for the half year the army was encamped upon the hills to the south.

In it he wrestled with problems that would have appalled ordinary men. Here he confronted and confounded the malign conspiracy of Conway; the misery and wretchedness of his suffering soldiers came home to him here, and it was here that he displayed a superhuman strength and courage in keeping alive through the long winter the feeble spark of a thing called the American Revolution.

It is amazing to contemplate the infinite variety of matters that were put up to the commander in chief. The butchers who killed the beef brought in by the foraging parties in the middle of January stung the soldiers by extorting money for the "plucks." The general settled that by stating definitely how the "pluck" should be issued. The number of courts martial was prodigious, and it seems the general reviewed the findings of the court in some of the forty-eight hours he worked every day. "Lashes well laid on upon his bare back" was the ordinary punishment, and the stripes ranged in number from 30 to as high as 500—if a man wasted his ammunition by firing his piece unnecessarily, 39 lashes; desertion, 100 for that; stealing, 100, and so on. Twenty-four officers were cashiered or dismissed from service.

A German officer attached to the staff at Valley Forge, Frederick William Augustus Baron von Steuben, was appointed inspector general. This is from one of his accounts: "The arms at Valley Forge were in a horrible condition—covered with rust, half of them without bayonets, many from which a single shot could not be fired. The pouches were quite as bad as the arms. A great many of the men had tin boxes instead of pouches. Others had cow horns, and muskets, carbines, fowling pieces and rifles were to be seen in the same company. The description of the dress is most easily given. The men were literally naked, some of them in the fullest extent of the word. The officers who had coats had them of every color and make. I saw officers at a grand parade at Valley Forge mounting guard in a sort of dressing gown, made of an old blanket or a woolen bed cover. With regard to their military discipline I may safely say no such thing existed." So much for the organization and its equipment.

June 19, 1778, the army evacuated Valley Forge and started in haste after Sir Henry Clinton's 17,000 British and his twelve mile supply train. When the clash came at Monmouth on the 28th this wonderful weapon fashioned by the Prussian drillmaster on the dreary Pennsylvania hillside proved its worth nobly, and but for the perfidy of that "d—d poltroon" Charles Lee it would doubtless have ended the war then and there.

An Enthusiast.

On the Long Island train were two fashionably dressed young matrons absorbed in the suffrage question.

"Do come march with me in the next parade," said the brunette with the tulip bow on her hat.

"Oh, I'd just love to," replied the blond in black velvet, "and I will unless Phil feels too strongly about it. He is rather old fashioned, you know."

"Yes, I know. So is George. But I do hope we can. All my life I've been simply wild to march behind a brass band."—New York Post.

BRAVERY.

It is not necessary to be brutal to be brave. All the world loves a brave man, but the courage that is seasoned with cheerfulness is the best courage. Great is the man who can bear a misfortune without trying to shirk it. Greater is he who can laugh at it and carry his cross as if it were a royal banner.

What Was Your County Vote?

Do you know how your county voted at the last state election, just how much of a majority it gave its choice for governor, or how the people of your community felt on any one of the amendments to the constitution? Or how many votes any party won or lost over two years before? These are interesting things to know, but they are hard to keep in mind.

Our OHIO ALMANAC remembers them for you. It is filled with 100,000 just such interesting facts—tax laws, school laws, game laws, manufacturing data, state officials, organizations of the state—everything you can think of as being connected with Ohio is there. It makes facinating reading, and authorities have compiled it for you.

Twenty-five cents is all it will cost you at this office, or 30c by mail, postpaid.

SHIRT AND UNDERWEAR FACTORY FOR THIS CITY

Mr. H. A. Stuart, of the Troy, New York, Shirt Company, Will Open Factory Here Within the Year, He Announces.

IS NOW SEEKING SUITABLE LOCATION

Has Several Propositions in View but May Purchase a Lot and Build Own Plant if He Cannot Purchase a Building at Reasonable Cost—Likes Washington and Will Make Future Home Here—Factory to Employ 75 Women and Men at Start.

It will be good news to Washington citizens to know that a new factory will be located in this city, and the man who is to bring it here—Mr. H. A. Stuart, of Troy, N. Y., announces that he wishes to start the factory with at least 50 women employees and 20 to 25 men, and that within a year or two he wishes to increase this number to 150 to 200 persons, to be employed at good wages. Mr. Stuart is one of the owners of the Troy Shirt Company, and one of two branch factories of the same concern, and in an interview with The Herald states that he has positively decided to open a factory here, and that he asks no money whatsoever from Washington citizens, and the only thing he does ask is fair treatment—a thing a large number of business men have already assured him is accorded every newcomer who offers something good for Washington.

It is Mr. Stuart's intention to either buy a site and erect a building upon it, or to purchase a building outright and open the factory in it. Already he has three propositions in sight and is making a more careful investigation before closing for any particular piece of property.

One of the properties is the building in which the Ballard-Ford Hardware company is located. The other two are propositions which already contain buildings, but if the price of either is deemed too high, he will purchase a lot and erect a factory building after plans and specifications to suit the company.

"I have been searching about in towns of this size for four weeks, and have visited a large number of towns in four states, but nowhere have I found such an admirable place as this city. We are going to place a factory here, and we are going to pay a living wage, as we are now doing in New York and Pennsylvania," said Mr. Stuart. "In addition to a regular salary to start with, we are going to pay each girl $2 per week board, and after they learn the business we will put them on piece work where they will be able to increase their earnings," he continued.

He expressed himself as greatly pleased with Washington and Washington citizens, and stated that he would himself take charge of the factory here and become a citizen of Washington.

In addition to the manufacture of shirts, it is the intention of Mr. Stuart, to equip the plant for the manufacture of ladies' underwear, and turn out shirts and underwear in large quantities. The produce of the factory at Troy, N. Y., is well known, and is already recognized as a standard garment, handled by dealers all over the land.

Within the next few days Mr. Stuart expects to close up negotiations for a suitable building or building lot, and if a building is purchased, very little time will elapse until the plant is opened and giving employment to 50 to 75 persons to start with. If he purchases a lot upon which to erect a building, a substantial structure will be erected early in the spring.

"My observation is," said Mr. Stuart, "that there is room for a half a dozen factories in this city, and every factory means additional inhabitants and consequent city growth."

Mr. Stuart is a gentleman of extremely pleasing personality, is about 60 years of age, and has no family, having buried his wife and daughter within a few days time a few years ago.

The fact that not a penny is asked from the city is all the greater evidence that Mr. Stuart means business, and Washington citizens are giving him hearty welcome.

GENERAL EPIDEMIC OF THE MEASLES

This city and county is apparently suffering from a general epidemic of the measles, and there are now two or three hundred cases in the county and city.

Most of the cases are not of a serious nature, as the disease is of a mild form, but several cases are reported where complications have arisen which place the patients in a rather serious condition.

The local health board is stamping out the disease in this city by rigid quarantine, and within a short time hope to eradicate the disease from the city.

Not only is the city and some parts of the county suffering from the epidemic of measles, but the disease seems prevalent all over central Ohio. So far as known the measles is the only epidemic that is causing annoyance in this county.

In most places the action taken by the local board of health, in quarantining all families where the disease has appeared, and in keeping the patients out of public gathering places.

CHICKEN THIEVES LEAVE AFTER SOME MORE URGING

Earl and Frank Thomas, the two chicken thieves of South Plymouth, left the community Thursday afternoon shortly after one o'clock after Deputy Sheriff Nelson had been started after them to bring them back to face Judge Allen under a suspended fine and workhouse sentence.

The pair lingered over the allotted time—Wednesday night—and Thursday when Judge Allen learned that they were remaining in the county he phoned them to "dig" or take the consequence. They agreed to go, and Thursday afternoon started out walking to get outside the county before they were apprehended and sent to the workhouse.

The men, although having little food in the house where they lived, maintained a telephone, and it was an easy manner to get in touch with them, which Judge Allen did and told them in no uncertain terms that their time to escape serving time in the workhouse was very limited. They took the hint.

A woman, said to be the wife of one of the men, went with them. The woman, according to information from neighbors, claimed that she had been detained against her wishes, and that she was anxious to escape from the man. A purse was raised with which to send her out of the place and to friends, but before the money was turned over to her, the pair returned from this city and she remained with the men. Her story is doubted, however.

The two men, it will be recalled, were arrested for the theft of chickens from Ford brothers, brought before Judge Allen, entered pleas of guilty, and were given $100 and the costs and ordered committed to the workhouse. However the fine was suspended providing they would leave

Again several hundred dollars was reported by the workers in the Y. M. C. A. campaign when they met at the Association building Thursday noon, and after various plans of procedure were discussed at some length, it was agreed that no more announcements would be made until next Monday noon, when the committees again meet for luncheon and will make a report upon all cards they hold.

By that time they hope to make a splendid showing, and the promise to devote more time to the work was made, and better results are expected. The campaign will continue uninterrupted until probably Saturday night of next week, and by that time the workers expect to reach the coveted goal.

Considering the work so far, the results are pronounced highly encouraging, and each team will make an effort to make a splendid showing next Monday noon.

AGED RESIDENT CRITICALLY ILL

Cashmer Fortier, 81, of the Cochran Church Neighborhood, Suffers Stroke of Paralysis Which Leaves Him in a Critical Condition at Home of His Daughter.

Mr. Cashmer Fortier, better known as "Doc" Fortier, one of the best known residents of the Cochran church neighborhood south of this city, is confined to his bed in a very serious condition as the result of a stroke of paralysis Wednesday afternoon, which overtook him while he was at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Corda Ellis, of near Cochran church.

Mr. Fortier, who is 81 years of age, has spent most of his life in this county, and has a great number of friends who regret to learn of the affliction which has overcome him. His condition is said to be very critical, and owing to his advanced years there is little hope of his recovery. His entire right side is affected by the stroke, and he is in a perfectly helpless condition.

His son, Mr. H. C. Fortier, of this city, and daughter, Mrs. William DeWees of this city were notified at once of their father's critical condition.

Mrs. Alf. Coffey, of Dayton, another daughter, was also notified, and arrived on the Thursday morning train and hurried at once to her father's bedside, where the other children are.

Mr. Fortier is well known in this city and throughout southern Fayette. He came to this county from Canada more than a half century ago, and has since resided here.

GOOD THINGS AHEAD OF THE D. T. & I.

"We expect to reorganize on March 1st and immediately take steps to place the property in first class condition so that it will be a credit to the country served."

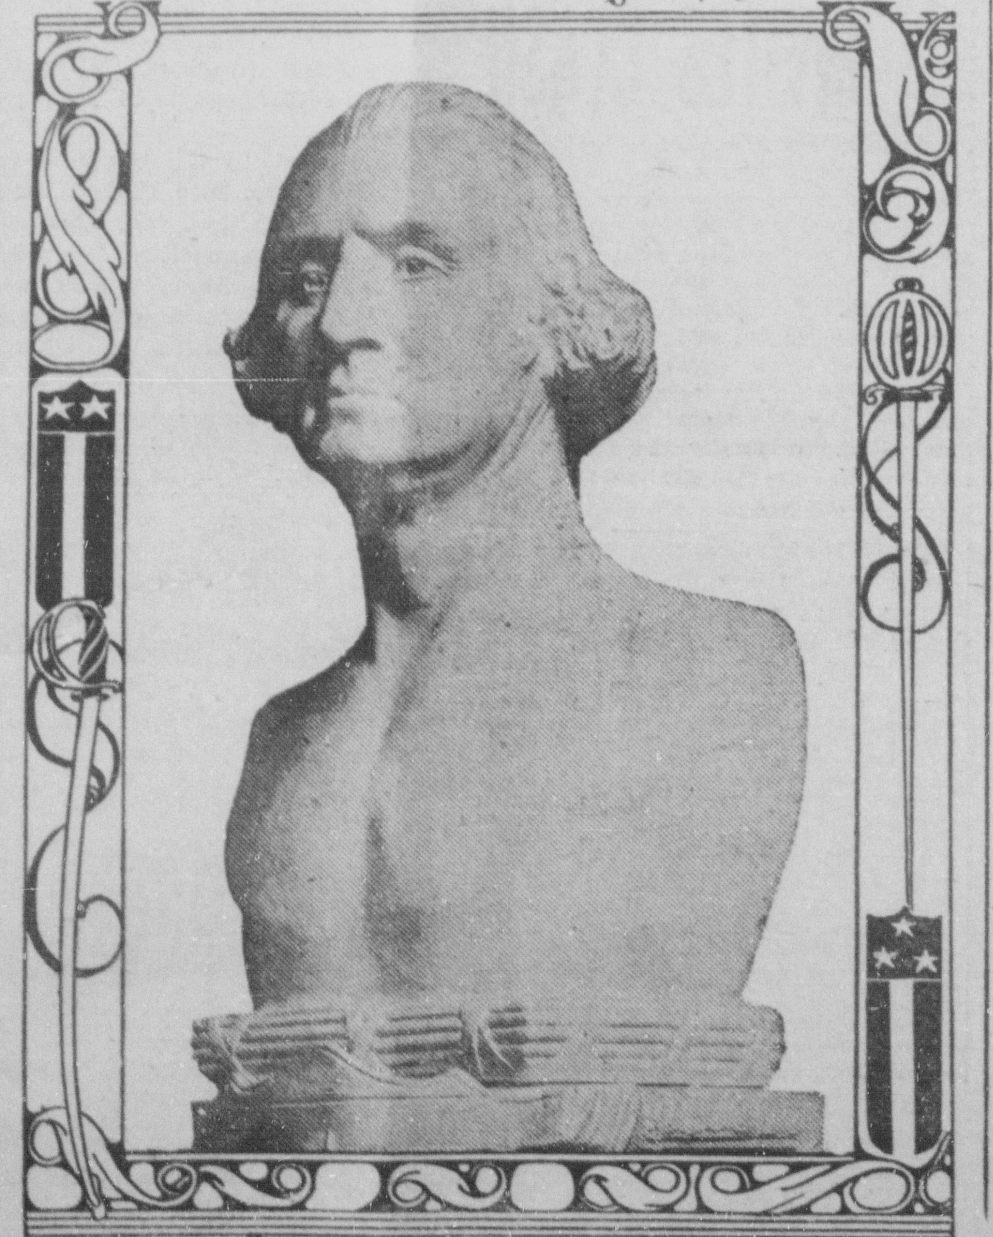

The above are the words of J. M. Kurn, general manager of the D. T. & I. railroad, and the news sounds good to Washington and Fayette Co. citizens who are interested in better service from the road.

In connection with the above words, it may be stated that when he was in this city recently and took a look at the passenger and freight depot here, he gave vent to his disgust in finding such a building at such an important point on the road.

Not only did he condemn the old structure in no uncertain terms, but he also pronounced the plans for the new combination freight and passenger station and yards, as inadequate, and it is understood that he will order new plans and specifications made for the building and tracks in this city.

It is the general opinion of railroad men that the new boss on the road is a "live wire" of high voltage.

CONTINENTALS' CURRENCY.

Massachusetts issued Bills of Credit to Pay Troops.

IMMEDIATELY after the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775, the people of Massachusetts took active steps to continue the struggle which they were embarked. Before passing a resolution renouncing allegiance to General Gage, the colonial governor, the provincial congress voted to raise an army of 13,600 men, and in order to pay the troops it was decided to issue bills of credit or paper money to the amount of $375,000. The notes were issued in various small denominations so they could be used as currency.

TWENTY FOUR SHILLINGS

REVERSE OF MASSACHUSETTS TREASURY NOTE.

The face of the note for 24 shillings bore the following on its face:

Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, August 18, 1775. The Possessor of this Bill shall be paid by the Treasurer of this colony TWENTY-FOUR SHILLINGS. Lawful Money, by the 18th of August, 1775, which bill shall be received for the aforesaid sum in all payments at the Treasury and in all other Payments by order of the General Assembly.

There was space for the signatures of members of the committee in charge of the issuing of the notes. On the reverse appeared a representation of a colonial soldier holding a naked sword in one hand and a scroll bearing the words, "Magna Charta," in the other. There was a Latin inscription of which the following is a translation: "Ab seeks by the sword calm repose under the auspices of freedom."

In Social Circles

The Woman's Missionary meeting of the Presbyterian church, held Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. M. E. Hitchcock was a most enjoyable one. Despite the stormy weather and slushy walking there was a large attendance.

The president, Mrs. Aus Hopkins, opened the meeting, making special reference to the closing of this Presbyterian year and the opening of the new with March 1st and the great fields of work which are ready for Christian effort.

Mrs. Jos. N. Wilson announced the topics for this month, "The American Indian" and "Korea" and gave some special clippings with regard to them. A very interesting letter from Mrs. Ottewill, formerly Miss Anne Quinn, of Hillsboro, and now wife of a British consul in China, was read and fully appreciated. Miss Jackson, leader on program, took the remainder of the meeting in charge. The roll call being answered by clippings on the topics of the month. Mrs. Harry Sprenger presented an able paper on "Notable Indians; Meeting Their Own Problems," and Mrs. Hopkins' characteristics of Korean Christians.

Accompanying this were most interesting extracts from a letter from Miss Jane Samuels, a Missionary in Korea who is a warm personal friend of Mrs. Hopkins and many others here and has visited in Washington. It was like dropping into China and Korea and taking notes personally of our own Indians to have so much as the program offered. A musical treat of two Indian songs was given by Mrs. Lillian Davis and her daughter, Lillian, Miss Kathleen Davis pianist. Also an Indian hunting chorus.

Just at the close of the meeting Mr. Ralph Watson, now of Winona, Ill., gave a ten minutes' talk on the lepers, especially referring to the Miss Reed from Cincinnati, who went into the work in China, took the disease, but has kept on doing a great work there.

With Mrs. Hitchcock as assisting hostesses were: Mesdames Tuttle, Grafton, Meier, Lansing, Emma Smith, Berryman, Frank Rothrock, Klever, Craig, Ireland, Kibler, Howland, Chas. Campbell, Devaney.

The Wesley Chapel Mite Society held a very interesting meeting with a large attendance of members at the home of Mrs. Gillespie Wednesday afternoon. Assisting Mrs. Gillespie as hostesses were: Mesdames Gage, Owens, Kidd, Price, Minshall and Fogle.

The following program was rendered: Papers were read by Mrs. Stuckey, Mrs. Tobin and Mrs. Mills. Vocal solo by Mrs. Ford, was accompanied by Hazel Gillespie, and Mrs. Rogers. Recitations by Leona Gibson. Duets were furnished by Mrs. Harry Rankin and Hazel Gillespie and Mildred and Mabel Kidd.

The social hour was much enjoyed and refreshments served.

The Women of the Mary Boyd Hale Bible Class were indebted to the "Bs" and the "Cs" of the class for a delightful Kensington at the home of Mrs. Jennie Bailey this afternoon.

Assisting Mrs. Bailey as hostess were Mesdames Barger, Bennett, Bowen, Bryant, Bryson, Butcher, Campbell, Carson, Colow and a dainty luncheon was served.

Mrs. Louis Saxton charmingly entertained the Young Matrons' Bridge club this afternoon.

Mrs. Lewis Syester, of Hagarstown, Md., was an out of town guest.

Mr. Chas. Bell, who with his wife, arrived from Florida Wednesday to be the guests of Mrs. Bell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rothrock, left Thursday for his home in Columbus. Mrs. Bell will remain for a few days' visit.

Capt. and Mrs. W. B. Hershey leave Friday for Niles, to visit their daughter, Mrs. Wm. Vail. Capt. Hershey returns the first of the week, Mrs. Hershey remaining for a fortnight.

Mrs. L. N. Moats, of Greenville, O., is the guest of Mrs. Lulu Cissna.

Mr. W. J. Galvin, editor of the advertiser, sustained a severe fall on the slippery Main street pavement Wednesday evening. Although temporarily stunned and badly bruised, no bones were broken.

Miss Grace Paul is confined to her home on Court street, with a serious case of the grippe.

Mr. O. E. Tanquary was a business visitor in Columbus Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Murray spent Wednesday in Columbus and drove home a 1914 model of "The Detroit". The new Detroit is completely electrified and an up to the minute car in every respect.

Mrs. H. T. Baker is in from Maple Grove Springs for a couple of days.

Mr. Nathan Creamer, president of the Farmers Bank of Jeffersonville, spent Wednesday with his son, Mr. Ancil B. Creamer, at the Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus. He found Mr. Creamer not quite so well, although physicians are hopeful for his recovery. Mrs. Creamer is with her husband.

Dr. Gribble left this morning on the early train for Marietta, by way of Columbus, having received a telephone message from Mrs. Gribble notifying him of the death of a relative. The deceased is a sister of Mrs. Sarah A. Smith on Clinton avenue. The doctor will be absent about a week.

Miss Louise Skinner, of Greenfield, is visiting Miss Mariellen Wigginton.

Mrs. F. B. Creamer left yesterday for Hillsboro, to visit her mother, Mrs. Stephen Hickel.

Mrs. R. R. Kibler returned last evening from Coalton, where she was called by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Glenn. Mrs. Kibler left her mother improving.

COLLEGIATE QUARTET AGAIN DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE

Splendid Musical Organization Establishes New Precedent by Packing Grace Church in Face of Exceedingly Inclement Weather—High Class Entertainment Meets With Warm Approval From Large Audience of Lecture Course Patrons.

It certainly had to be a big drawing card to bring out through the seas of slush and water which covered the streets, and in a pouring rain the magnificent audience which filled Grace church Wednesday night to hear the "Collegiate Quartet", in concert. The splendid concert given by this quartet of artists last year had whetted musical appetites for more and undoubtedly was chiefly the cause of the large number braving weather conditions to hear them again.

With the exception of the "Madame Scotney" concert, which stands absolutely in a class by itself among the large number of concerts given in Grace church during the past decade, the "Collegiate Quartet" is distinctively the best aggregation of talent which the Washington Lecture committee has secured.

Purchasers of season tickets who heard both the Scotney and the Collegiate Quartet concerts were more than repaid for their expenditure without the other numbers of the course.

The personnel of last season's quartet was unchanged with the exception of the contralto, Miss Marguerite Dunlap taking the place of Miss Corinne Welsh.

In solos, duet and quartets the four singers proved themselves fully equal to all demands and gave a very beautiful program of high class concert numbers, which held the great audience in enthralled delight and brought an enthusiastic encore to every number.

The program was opened with the brilliant high soprano, showed to immense advantage in the quartet work, also contributed charming solo numbers. Her encore, "The Cuckoo" was a very taking bit of song, following the lyric, "A Song of Sunshine."

Mrs. Gould reaches her high notes with amazing ease. The contralto was attractive in her personality and showed temperament in her interpretations. Her voice was smooth and lovely with much resonance in its tone quality. The little encore, "Mammy's Southern Song," was wonderfully sweet.

Mr. John Young, whose beautiful high tenor, rarely sympathetic, aroused so much pleasure last year, again charmed his listeners, and the bass, Mr. LaRue Boals, was a power in the perfect ensemble work of the quartet. The tenor and bass delighted the audience in their duet work.

Among the quartet numbers, the beautiful arrangement of "Annie Laurie" and "The Chocolate Soldier" met with notable response, although each number was a joy.

Miss Eleanor Stanley, the pianist and accompanist, added two piano numbers of contrasting style; a "Cradle Song," interpreted with much delicacy and musical feeling and giving brilliant execution to "The March of the Dwarfs".

The Name of Washington

A HUNDRED years with all their train Of shadows have gone by, And yet his glorious name remains A sound that cannot die. 'Tis graven on the hill, the vale And on the mountain tall And speaks in every sounding gale And roaring waterfall.

HIS deeds were ours, but through the world That mighty name will be, Where glory's banner is unfurled, The watchword of the free. And as they bend their eagle eyes On victory's burning sun Their shouts will echo to the skies, "Our God and Washington!"

Bread Cast Upon Water? When it came to his turn to give his mite in the Sunday collection, says the Glasgow News, he fumbled among his pocket's contents for a florin and some pennies for the customary cups per and, dropping it in, missed the open box to his neighbor. As he glanced at the box over his shoulder, to his horror, his shining florin among the coins it contained. He had given it in his mite for a penny. Without a moment's hesitation he seized the box and he had gone too far, picked out the two shining pieces, substituted a penny for it and, blushed, but he had allowed the collecting to proceed. Later, on making a chance inspection of his money, he found he had two florins.

MANUEL FORFEITS CLAIM TO THRONE

London.—Ex-King Manuel of Portugal will in future be compelled to get along on his own resources, for King George, from whom he has received $50,000 annually since his dethronement, has cut him off. At the same time the former ruler of Portugal loses the title of "king," so far as official England is concerned. This has also been ordered by King George as the outcome of Manuel's renunciation of his claims to the throne of Portugal forever in favor of the Braganzas.

ordinary circumstances would devolve upon his son, Prince Miguel and husband of the former Anita Stewart, who would thereby receive the honorary title of "queen." In view of the fact that Prince Miguel has married a woman not of royal birth, his claim as pretender has been set aside in favor of his younger brother, who is now seven years old. Thus the hopes of Anita Stewart of becoming queen of Portugal are blasted forever.

This arrangement was adopted at a meeting of the Braganzas in Vienna and followed the announcement to all the courts of Europe that Manuel had renounced his claims to the throne upon his marriage to Princess Augustine of Hohenzollern at Sigmaringen. Manuel thereby carried out the wish of his father-in-law, who refused to give his daughter under any other conditions, as he feared that bloodshed would accompany any attempt on Manuel's part to regain his throne, and he did not wish his daughter to run the risk of falling into the hands of the mob.

In so doing Manuel cut himself off from the purse of King George, who only recently learned the facts. The official order depriving Manuel of his title in England stated that it was done on "account of the internal conditions in Portugal."

It is well known that Manuel, through his apathy in regard to regaining his throne, has lost the sympathy of King Alfonso of Spain and a host of royalists who would have been willing to follow his lead. These followers will now flock to the standard of the Braganzas. There is no reason to believe that the new pretenders to the throne of Portugal will take any decisive steps in the near future, as it is expected in many quarters that the republic of Portugal is nearing its end of its own accord.

Anita Stewart is the daughter of William Rhineland Stewart and was married to Prince Miguel of Braganza on Sept. 15, 1909. Her mother, after her divorce, married the late John Henry Smith. Miguel was at the time of the Portuguese revolution spoken of as a substitute for Manuel.

GAIN MADE IN FOREIGN TRADE FOR PAST YEAR

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—The detailed figures of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, show the imports into and the exports from the United States for the calendar year 1913 in comparison with the corresponding period of 1912, by grand divisions and principal countries.

Europe is far in the lead among the grand divisions both in selling to us and in buying from us. Our imports from that grand division in 1913 were $864,986,250 or $35,017,691 less than in 1912, and practically one-half our total imports. Our exports there to in the past year were $1,499,572,363, or $32,120,529 more than in 1912, and almost three-fifths our total exports. The balance of trade with Europe is strongly in favor of the United States and is increasing, amounting to $634,586,113 in 1913 as compared with $567,447,890 in the preceding year.

North America is second, selling to us goods valued at $389,951,176 in 1913 and buying from us goods aggregating $601,476,159 in value.

Asia, South America, Oceania, and Africa follow in the order named in selling to us, and in buying from us South America ranks third, with Asia next, followed by Oceania and Africa. This order was the same in both 1912 and 1913. With all four of these grand divisions the balance of trade is against us, but the total balance of trade for the four amounts to only $158,839,147 in 1913. The growth of trade strongly favors the United States, for, with a volume of business in 1913 amounting to $18,636,170 more than in 1912, the balance of trade against us was $30,952,452 less.

Green Sunsets.

Green sunsets seen by the Russian explorers in the polar regions have been matched in England. Throughout November and December of 1883 the sunsets and afterglows were of wonderful intensity and varied colors. At Chelsea especially the sun went down over the Thames amid a blaze of unearthly beauty ranging from deepest red to green, as may be seen in a series of water color sketches made at the time and now preserved in the Chelsea free library. Sir Norman Lockyer and other astronomers attributed these winter sunsets to the volcanic dust projected by the great eruption of Krakatoa, in Java, in the previous August.

WASHINGTON'S WEDDING

UPON the question whether the wedding of Mrs. Martha Custis and George Washington on Jan. 6, 1759, was a church wedding or not there has been much dispute. Some claim that the ceremony was performed at St. Peter's church, in Kent county, while others say it was at the bride's home, called "The White House." But, whether it took place at home or not, record of the bride's and bridegroom's costumes has been well preserved.

Martha Custis did not stand higher than Washington's shoulder, but she was very graceful, with a charming figure, light brown hair and hazel eyes. Her dress had been ordered from London, and there still remains a piece of the heavy white silk, shot with silver, which composed the upper part of her gown and which was worn over a white satin quilted petticoat. She had pearls in her ears and in her hair, and the buckles of her white satin slippers were ornamented with diamonds.

The ring which Washington had ordered from Philadelphia at the time of their engagement had cost him £2 10s., or $12.50 of our money of today.

Washington himself was in a suit of blue and silver, with scarlet trimmings. The white satin waistcoat was embroidered, and he wore buckles of gold on his knee garters and on his shoes. His hair was powdered, as was the custom in those days, while an elaborate dress sword hung by his side.

Mrs. Custis had three bridesmaids. The place was brilliant with the elaborate costumes of wedding guests and with the scarlet of the British officers' coats making bright spots of color through the rooms.

INTERSTATE COMMISSION CONSIDERED

Wilson and McReynolds Consider Anti-Trust Legislation.

IN AGREEMENT ON MAIN POINTS

Trade Commission Will Be Separate Body From Department of Commerce and Will Keep Watch Over Corporations Reorganized by the Courts—Senate Alaskan Railroad Bill Goes Through the House.

Washington, Feb. 19.—President Wilson held an important conference with Attorney General McReynolds at the White House on the anti-trust program. At this conference considerable progress was made in clarifying the administration's purpose with regard to this important legislation.

The attorney general and Mr. Wilson are in agreement as to the caution which must be exercised in the drafting of the provisions of each measure in order that the efficiency of the Sherman anti-trust law may not be impaired. They are in accord also upon the scope of the powers to be given the bill creating the Interstate trade commission. It is fairly certain now that the trade commission will be in substance a separate body from the department of commerce, having enlarged machinery for exercising the functions of the present bureau of corporations with some increased powers. To the commission will be entrusted the work of keeping watch over corporations reorganized by court decrees or voluntary agreements with the government.

Government Railroad in Alaska.

A railroad system in Alaska, to be constructed and operated by the federal government, is now assured. A bill authorizing the construction of such lines was passed by the house by a vote of 220 to 87. The senate already has approved the measure, but there are still some important differences that must be settled in conference. The bill as it passed the house provides a construction of a government railway system at a maximum cost of $35,000,000. The senate bill authorized an expenditure not to exceed $40,000,000.

Under the terms of the bill the president is authorized to expend not more than $35,000,000 to locate and construct lines of railroad from tide-water ports to points in the interior of Alaska. The president is authorized to operate the roads under government control or to lease them. The total mileage of the railways to be constructed is limited to 1,000 miles.

WASHINGTON'S OPINION OF MAD KING GEORGE.

One of the most important George Washington letters was sold a few months ago. In it he refers to the insanity of King George III. Historically the letter is one of the most interesting ever penned by Washington. It appears to be hitherto unpublished and was written Feb. 5, 1789, the day after his first election to the presidency. In it Washington says:

"All the political maneuvers which were calculated to impede, if not to prevent, the operation of the new government are now brought to a close until the meeting of the new congress, and, although the issues of all of the elections are not yet known, they are sufficiently displayed to authorize a belief that the opposers of the government have been defeated in almost every instance. Although the elections in this state are over, it will be some time (from the extent of it) before the representatives to congress can be finally announced. From conjecture, however, it is supposed the majority will be Federalists—some are so sanguine as to believe that seven out of the ten will be so—but this, as I have already said, is altogether conjecture—and vague conjecture—for much pain has been taken and no art left untried to poison the mind and alarm the fears of the people into opposition. In the list of the electors, which has been published by the executive authority of this state, there appear (as far as I am acquainted with the characters of the gentlemen) eight decided friends of the new constitution. Be the cause of the British king's insanity what it may, his situation, if alive, merits commiseration. "Better perhaps would it have been for his nation, though not for ours, under present prospect. If this event had happened at the time Dr. Franklin, you say, supposed his majesty's constitution was first tinged with the malady under which he is now laboring."

Burning Wood.

Wood crackles when it is ignited because the air expanded by heat forces its way through the pores of the wood with a crackling noise. Green wood makes less snapping than dry because the pores contain less air, being filled with sap and moisture, which extinguish the flame, whereas the pores of dry wood are filled with air, which supports combustion.

In the Dark.

Pleasant For Aunt.
The rich maiden aunt was calling on her poor relations.
"And where is little Tommy?" she inquired, looking round for her favorite.
Little Tommy was brought in carrying a large tumbler, from which he refused to be parted.
"Do drink this, auntie," he said.
"And why should I drink it, dear?"
"Because I want to see you."
"And why do you want to see me drink it?"
"Because papa says you drink like a fish."—London Mail.

The Genius.
Mark Twain on one occasion said of genius:
"A genius, as an old lady in Hannibal once explained to me, is a man what knows more'n he can find out and spills vittels on his clothes."

Making It a Sat.
A young man was lately leaving his aunt's house after a visit when, finding it was beginning to rain, he caught up an umbrella that was snugly placed in a corner and was proceeding to open it when the old lady, who for the first time observed his movements, sprang toward him, exclaiming: "No, no; that you never shall! I've had that umbrella twenty-three years, and it has never been wet yet, and I am sure it shan't be wetted now!"—London Express.

BILL AIMED AT UNFAIR RATES

Washington, Feb. 19.—Legislation aimed at the so-called shipping trust, comprising in large part of certain foreign steamship "pools," will be presented to the house following the filing of a report on the subject by the committee on merchant marine and fisheries. In the last congress the house committee undertook an inquiry into the activities of the shipping trust, and the statement of facts with proposed recommendations for legislation has just been completed by Representative Alexander of Missouri, chairman of the committee. The committee seems to be agreed that the steamship pools, working in conjunction with line carriers in this country, impose conditions on some shippers that are burdensome. It is stated that the committee will propose recommendations proposed by Chairman Alexander, that the steamship combines should be prohibited by law from exercising arbitrary powers in routing shipments and that discriminations in the matter of rates should be made the subject of supervision by the interstate commerce commission.

Washington, Feb. 19.—In a resolution the house committee on merchant marine proposes to honor Captain Paul H. Kreibohn of the steamship Kroonland in recognition of his heroism in rescuing 39 persons from the steamship Volturino, which caught fire in the Atlantic ocean early in October last. The resolution carries an appropriation of $10,000. CARS CRASH KILLING FOUR INDIANA MEN

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 19.—Two persons were killed, six probably fatally injured and 25 others hurt when an outbound English avenue street car was crushed between two heavy traction cars. The accident was caused by slippery rails.

The dead: James Horan, 16; Jacob K. Hardy, 48; Fletcher Roark, Harry Oliver. Seriously injured: John Kane, body crushed; Mrs. E. C. Fesler, spine injured; George Shirk, body crushed; Harry Vinney, body crushed; R. C. Jochum, body crushed.

The English avenue car, loaded with persons homeward bound from the business section, stopped at the foot of a steep grade, just behind a Columbus & Southern traction car, and a large Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction freight car, on the grade behind the city car, crashed into the smaller car.

DOES LAW COVER RAILWAY MERGER?

Washington, Feb. 19.—It is now up to the interstate commerce commission to inform the senate whether, in its opinion, the proposed merger of the New York Central railroad and the Lake Shore is within the law. The commission heard final testimony and argument on the merger, which involves the issuance of $167,102,400 4 per cent bonds to take the place of 3 1/2 per cent bonds outstanding.

The investigation into the matter was directed by a resolution of the senate, and considerable testimony has been taken. Among the witnesses that have appeared was Pierpont Morgan, who testified that the consolidation was essential to the welfare of the railroads involved and in order that they might finance themselves on the form of a single system and not piecemeal.

LOOMS LARGE

Washington, Dec. 19.—The issue raised by President Wilson's determination to have the free tolls provision in the Panama canal act repealed is rapidly assuming the foremost place in congress. There are evidences that the president will meet stronger and sharper opposition within his own party on this question than any other that has been raised. Senator Bristow of Kansas fired the opening gun for the Republicans, who are opposed to a repeal of this provision. Senator Bristow attacked the president sharply, alleging inconsistency.

While Senator Bristow was delivering his speech, the president was in conference with Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader of the house, trying to win him over to the administration's view on this subject. Mr. Underwood, however, left the White House still opposed to a repeal of the free tolls provision.

NOW, MARGARET, TELL THE TRUTH

Washington, Feb. 19.—It is reported that Miss Margaret Wilson is to be the bride of Boyd Fisher of Princeton and New York, a well known social worker. Strength is given to the rumor by the frequent week-end visits of Mr. Fisher to the White House and his constant appearance by the side of Miss Wilson here.

SEVEN CASTILLO BANDITS KILLED

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 19.—Rebel troops from Juarez, under command of Major Samaniego, encountered a part of Maximo Castillo's bandit band south of Juarez, in the vicinity of Guzman, which is 77 miles from the border, and killed seven of them. The others, about 20 in number, escaped in the direction of Juarez, and General Villa hurriedly dispatched a force to the scene of the encounter in an effort to catch the bandits between two lines of troops.

Castillo and the six men captured with him near Alamo Nuevo ranch, on the New Mexico line, will be brought to El Paso. They will be interned at the prison camp at Fort Bliss and Castillo himself will probably be locked in the post guard-house. Castillo, though sullen and noncommunicative, still maintains that he had no connection with the Cumbre tunnel horror.

Braulio Hernandez, former secretary of the state of Chihuahua, who for a time was in the field with Castillo, but is now in El Paso, offered affidavits from a Mexican man and woman who declare that a sister of Major Samaniego of Villa's army told them that Samaniego's men wrecked the train and burned it in the tunnel to give the impression to the world that it was Castillo and give Villa great credit as a man of order if he ran down and destroyed Castillo's band.

UNABLE TO AGREE

Philadelphia, Feb. 19.—Operators and miners of the central competitive bituminous coal district, who have been discussing a new wage agreement here for more than 10 days, will probably adjourn without having reached any settlement of their differences.
